Mississippi Flood Rampage Threatens New Destruction

Engineers Battle To Hold Protective Dikes As River Surges Toward 103-Year High Water Mark Record

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—(AP)—The swirling Mississippi river surged toward a 103-year high water mark here tonight as floodwaters overspread railroad yards, lapped at river-front warehouses and threatened millions of dollars of new destruction in its month-long rampage.

Engineers and volunteers fought to hold dikes protecting lowlands on the Illinois side of the river at Venice, Granite City, Dupo and farther south at Chester where the water-front business district was engulfed.

Harry F. Wahlgren, U. S. meterologist, predicted the Mississippi would reach 39.3 feet Monday—highest stage since the 41.3-foot record of 1844 and 1.5 feet above the peak recorded here in 1944.

Property and crop damage, now estimated at over $100,000,000, continued to mount steadily while hundreds of persons were evacuated from their homes hourly to escape the rampaging river and its chief tributary—the Missouri. The Red Cross reported 33,657 known homeless in the four-state area of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa.

Plants were being sandbagged along a 30-mile stretch from Alton, Ill., to a point several miles below East St. Louis. Three railroad yards in North St. Louis were under water and at

Half Million Dollar Industry To Have $750,000 Annual Payroll

FUND IS RAISED LOCALLY FOR PURCHASE OF GROUND

Completing negotiations that extended over fully nine months, the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe announced Saturday that a contract has been signed between the committee and Mendell M. Selig for the establishment of the Selig Furniture Manufacturing company. This means that a half million dollar industry with an annual payroll of $750,000 will be established in Monroe, with fully 300 full-time employes.

No more cheering news has been heard here in a long time as it would seem to mark a turning point industrially for this city and vicinity. It will also stress the advantages that natural resources here provide and may be quite likely the means of the bringing here of other similar furniture and woodworking plants to take advantage of abundant timber that north Louisiana produces in such

TERRORISTS KILL BRITISH SOLDIER

Six Others Wounded In Holy Land Affrays; Attacks Said To Be Reprisals

JERUSALEM, June 28.—(AP)—One British soldier was killed and six others wounded tonight in shooting affrays in Tel Aviv and Haifa, it was officially announced here.

One British private was killed and three others hurt when attackers described by police as members of the Jewish underground Stern group fired a machinegun at them on a crowded Tel Aviv street, the official report said.

Three British officers were wounded when gunmen laid down a barrage in a Haifa cafe.

It was believed the attacks were reprisals by the Stern group for the disappearance on May 6 of one of its members, 16-year-old Alexander Rubowitz.

The report of the shooting came as the United Nations investigation commission completed another tour of Arab communities in central Palestine.

The investigators were met with courtesy but lack of cooperation by

SPECTACULAR FIRE RAZES YORK PLANT

YORK, Pa., June 28.—(AP)—A spectacular fire that brought out all the fire fighting apparatus of this south central Pennsylvania city of 56,712, razed a block long industrial plant early today, causing damage which fire officials said may reach $500,000.

The blaze—York's third major fire in four months—started in a metal chute used in the York-Shipley, Inc., sheet metal plant, for conveying shredded paper from the second to the first floor, firemen said.

Fed by the highly inflammable shredded paper used for packing purposes, the fire swept quickly through the York-Shipley building which also housed a warehouse of H. M. Rehmeyer, electric appliance dealer, and a second building used by Kart Ort for his aeronautical equipment supplies.

At the height of the blaze, firemen were compelled to turn hose lines on thousands of spectators to keep them out of the fire zone after police were unable to restrain the crowd.

Peace With Miners Sought By Industry

Movement Underway To Avert Nation-wide Walkout By Meeting Full Wage, Hour Demands Made By Lewis

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Two powerful units of the soft coal industry—U. S. Steel and Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company—tonight were reported backing a movement to avert a nationwide coal strike by meeting John L. Lewis' wage and hour demands in full.

As this report caused settlement hopes to rise, the 400,000 A. F. L. United Mine Workers in the soft coal fields began a ten-day vacation. It could become another industry-wide walkout on July 8 unless a settlement is reached between Lewis and the private mine operators, who recover possession of the pits from the government Monday night.

Persons in close touch with industry negotiators said Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel Corporation, and George M. Humphrey, chairman of the big Pittsburgh Coal Company, met Lewis in an unannounced conference yesterday.

Immediately afterward, it was reported, Fairless and Humphrey advised other coal operators' representatives here that an offer meeting Lewis' basic wage and hour demands would have to be made.

This would amount to $13.05 for an eight-hour, portal-to-portal day, compared with the present $11.85 for a nine-hour day. The proposed offer would cover a contract up to April 1, 1949.

Northern and Western operators' spokesmen scattered for home for the week-end, announcing they will return to meet Monday. None was in Washington to comment on the report of the Fairless-Humphrey proposal, and a spokesman for Lewis said "no comment."

Labor department officials said Secretary Schwellenbach will move to get negotiations started early next week—perhaps on Tuesday, directly after Secretary of the Interior Krug restores the mines to private operation.

The Lewis spokesman said the UMW will accept any invitation from Schwellenbach. He observed that, even if the basic wage-hour demand were met, there are "plenty of other things to be settled", including UMW's demands for an increase in the welfare fund levy from five cents a ton to 10 cents, additional overtime payments, and six paid holidays a year.

Government officials conferred in urgent meetings, prodded by reports of curtailed steel operations. In Pittsburgh, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation furloughed 10,000 workers because of dwindling coal piles.

A high white house adviser said the administration at this moment sees no way of using the "national emergency" machinery of the Taft-Hartley act if negotiations fail to avert the threatened shutdown on July 8.

STARVATION DIETS FOR STEELMAKERS

Coal-Related Industry Has Hunger Pangs As Supply Is Shut Off

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(AP)—Coal-related industry felt hunger pangs today for the fuel supply cut off by a 10-day paid vacation of the nation's coal miners.

The country's entire coal production virtually was snuffed out as nearly 500,000 miners, including 400,000 AFL-United Mine Workers in the soft coal pits, started holidays which closed the mines.

Federal estimates indicated the nation had only a 31-day coal supply as the holiday began.

Steelmakers took to "starvation diets" to conserve meager supplies of soft coal without which the industry cannot operate. These drastic conservation measures forced layoffs for thousands of production workers.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., top producer of the U. S. Steel Corp., biggest steelmaker in the nation, led the reducing exercises by furloughing 10,000 workers in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown, O., district.

District operations of the firm will be reduced 59 percent from a theoretical 104 percent capacity to about 45 percent. Other steel concerns cut back operations sharply. Coal-carrying railroads began to feel the pinch.

The uncertainty whether the vacations would end on schedule July 7 or would coast into an indefinite "holiday" until private mine operators and UMW Chief John L. Lewis negotiate a new contract figured in steel's cutbacks.

The only bright spot was a report that the United States Steel Corp., and Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. have recommended granting Lewis' basic wage demands in full.

The reported proposal is $13.05 for an eight-hour day, including portal-to-portal time, instead of the present $11.85 for nine hours for the United Mine Workers. Both industry and union officials evaded direct comment on the report.

Soft coal mines return to private ownership from federal control on Monday for the first time since May 1, 1946, when the department of the interior took over after a 59-day strike

LABOR BILL CALLED CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Democratic Officials Dramatically Place Party In Opposition To GOP Reaction

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—The Democratic National committee billed the Taft-Hartley labor act as a political campaign issue today with an assertion by Director Gael Sullivan that it had arrayed his party members "dramatically in opposition to GOP reaction."

Sullivan wrote in the weekly issue of "Capitol Comment," party organ, that "the Taft-Hartley law has sharpened the cleavage between the two parties."

"Liberalism has been demonstrated anew by the president!" Sullivan said. "Democrats are now dramatically in opposition to GOP reaction."

He recounted "desperate efforts" he had said had been made to sustain President Truman's veto and said Mr. Truman had made "a dramatic last-ditch appeal" to congress.

He blamed "stay-at-home voters" and "rocking-chair politicians" for permitting "a well organized minority of Republican voters to seize control of congress." The answer, he said, is for Democratic leaders to work for "mass registrations with the avowed intention of voting against Republican reaction" and to "ring those doorbells" to get out the vote.

Sullivan's seeming attempt to align the Democratic party organization in opposition to the Taft-Hartley measure prompted comment by Senator McClellan (D.-Ark.) that the committee director was attempting to "take in too much territory." McClellan supported the bill and voted to override the president's veto, along with other Democrats.

"I don't think he can say that the Democratic party is against the Taft-Hartley bill because a majority of the Democrats in congress voted to support it," McClellan said. "It is not a perfect bill, but it represents a step in the direction of controlling abuses that I think the majority of the people of the country want controlled."

When the House acted, the division among Democrats there was 106 to 71 to override the president's veto. In the Senate, 22 Democrats supported the president's position and 20 went against him.

Senator Hatch (D.-N.M.), who also voted to override, said he thinks it is too early to determine whether the bill will become a major issue in the 1948 campaign.

"If the law proves to be a success, the Republican party will claim full credit for it and seek to make it an issue," Hatch predicted.

"If the law is a failure and produces the dire results forecast for it

GIRL, 5, MURDERED ON SLEEPING PORCH

DALLAS, June 28.—(AP)—The battered, lifeless body of five-year-old Mary Lane McCarter was found on a blood-stained bed on an upstairs sleeping porch of her home today by her mother, Mrs. Charlie Phillips.

After making an investigation at the house, police ordered the child's body removed to a hospital for examination.

Chief of Detectives Will Fritz said Mrs. Phillips told officers that she and her 10-month-old daughter slept in a bedroom just off the sleeping porch and that she did not hear any disturbance during the night. Mrs. Phillips' husband, Charlie Phillips, works at night for an awning company, was was not at home.

SOVIETS DEMAND BLUE CHIPS IN INTERNATIONAL POKER TILT

PARIS, June 28.—(AP)—Soviet Russia apparently has set a course aimed at forcing the price sky high if the United States undertakes to finance European recovery in a bid to halt the spread of Communism.

The opinion of practically every veteran observer at the secrecy cloaked three-power conference here on the aid-to-Europe program agreed today that is the interpretation to be placed on Moscow reports that the Russians' first move here was to call for United States Secretary of State Marshall to show his hand.

The Russians want to know definitely how many billions of dollars is represented in the Harvard speech of June 5 when Secretary Marshall said the United States would help Europe if European nations would draw up a plan showing they were ready to help themselves. They also want to know what backing Marshall has in Congress and the United States, and whether he was doing anything more than floating a trial baloon.

This opening move could be the beginning of an international poker game, with Soviet Russia calling for Marshall to put in more blue chips as the game goes on, and with the United States or Soviet leadership in Europe the possible stakes.

The weight President Truman's administration is prepared to throw behind the Marshall offer is suggested by the preparations here to receive two more United States cabinet members.

MOLTOTOV TARDILY JOINS AID TALKS; PARIS IS GLOOMY

Pessimism, Bickering Settles Down On Parley; Press Ban Attacked

SOVIET MINISTER ARMED WITH LATE INSTRUCTIONS

PARIS, June 28.—(AP)—Armed with what French sources said were up-to-the-minute instructions from Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tardily joined his British and French colleagues in the aid-to-Europe conference for a session of nearly three hours tonight.

What word he had to take to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was not likely to leak out for a day or two in view of the official lid on news of the sessions.

But pessimism and dickering already had settled down upon the conference, and one source close to the chiefs of the French delegate said he already had gained the impression that the Russians were bent upon a course that would slowly strangle U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's program of U. S. aid to Europe if Europeans will cooperate among themselves.

This source said he had gained the impression from talks with his delegation that Russian questions at yesterday's opening sessions were directed at bringing up the same old issues that stymied the foreign ministers council in Moscow. These questions arose before Molotov had re-

GOODS PLENTIFUL AS PRICES SOAR

OPA Now Stalks Nation Only As Ghost Of Its Former Robust Self

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—A year after OPA encountered sudden death amidst an uproar of accusations and defenses, the American people today find prices higher and goods more plentiful.

That is the conclusion drawn from an Associated Press survey of what has happened since the government price-fixing agency expired June 30, 1946, after President Truman vetoed an inadequate congressional bill extending the agency's life.

Subsequently the OPA revived, but it stalked the land only as a ghost of its former robust self. It was interred by degrees as ceilings were removed from one commodity after another, and final burial came in December when its remaining powers were transferred to other agencies.

Looking at the results, the nation found today:

1. Prices are very much higher than former OPA ceilings, and there has been only a midest decline since the peak was reached in March this year. Some commodities seem destined to rise even higher.

2. More goods are available, eliminating the block long nylon stocking line, the under-the-counter deals for hard to get items and the extraordinary popularity of butchers with anyone who wanted a hunk of beef.

3. Stocks of some food items have been built up, but for the most part cold storage holdings remain very low. This is particularly true of meat and eggs, in both of which the country is living on a hand-to-mouth basis.

Paul Porter, last of the OPA administrators, would not comment on the agency today, stating "Let's let that gallant wartime agency rest in peace."

Meat was the core of the OPA battle a year ago. The word, but not the taste was on everybody's tongue. In New York, hamburger which was 39 cents a pound, when available, a year ago, is now 47 cents. Loin of pork which sold at 47 cents now brings 62 cents.

In the Chicago wholesale market butter which sold at 56 1/2 cents a pound a year ago today brings 66 1/4 cents. But there was a government subsidy equivalent to 15 cents a pound, paid to producers out of taxes, on butter last year. Eggs which sold

POLICE SEEK CLUES IN ATLANTA SLAYING

ATLANTA, June 28.—(AP)—Ten Atlanta detectives combed a wooded section near Henrietta Eggleston Memorial Hospital on Forrest Road today, in an effort to establish where pretty Jeanette Reyman, 30, was raped and murdered last Wednesday.

Mrs. Reyman, wife of Bogart, Ga., tourist camp operator who recently came to Georgia from Indiana, was found bludgeoned and with her neck broken in a blood-soaked pickup truck.

Police reported finding a shoe which apparently fitted the description of those the murder-victim was wearing when she left Bogart last Wednesday. She came to Atlanta in her husband's truck to buy restaurant equipment.

The murder was the second sex-killing to occur in Atlanta in seven weeks. No solution has been reported in the garroting of Mrs. Paul Refoule, socialite wife of a French art instructor, who was found in Peachtree Creek last month.

PROHIBITION PARTY SELECTS CANDIDATE

WINONA LAKE, Ind., June 28.—(AP)—Claude A. Watson, Los Angeles lawyer and 1944 presidential candidate, today won renomination as the Prohibition party candidate for president in the 1948 election.

Watson received the nomination on the third ballot with 150 votes. His nearest opponent, Enoch A. Holtwick, Greenville, Ill., college professor, had 117.

In the field were Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York City, 1936 candidate, and Dale Learn of Stroudsburg, Pa., a "favorite son" entry.

Delegates nominated Learn vice-presidential candidate by acclamation after Holtwick withdrew.

U. S. S. MISSISSIPPI TO BE LABORATORY FOR NEW WEAPONS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—The Navy is turning the old battleship Mississippi into a floating laboratory for testing new weapons.

The announcement tonight said space is being reserved for new rapid-fire missile launched 'when such become available."

Rapid-fire rockets were used on ships during the war and since then the navy has engaged in experiments to improve them. It has designated the new battlecruiser Hawaii and the battleship Kentucky as "missile ships."

The Mississippi is a veteran of two world wars. Three of its 14-inch guns are being removed at Norfolk, Va.

NEW TAKE-OFF RULE ANNOUNCED FOR AIR SAFETY

Truman's Committee Says Provision May Have Prevented New York Crash

LOAD LIMITS TAILORED FOR FLYING CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—President Truman's air safety board produced tonight a new take-off rule which its chairman said would have prevented the May 29 crash which killed 43 persons at La Guardia field, N. Y.

The plane "would never have started" its run under the new formula, said James M. Landis, chairman of the special board and of the civil aeronautics board. The ship crashed at take off.

The new rule provides for stricter limitation of load limits according to flying conditions.

The CAB and the civil aeronautics administration plan to have it in effect in "four or five days" as soon as calculating tables can be sent to the airlines.

The formula takes into stricter account how much weight can safely be carried by four-engine planes—

Government Predicts Control Of Communist-Devastated Rail Center

MUKDEN, Manchuria, June 28.—(AP)—Government armies thrust northeast and southwest upon Szepingkai today, and military officials predicted they would resume control of that Communist-devastated railway junction within 48 hours.

The Communists, who captured practically all the city after a two-weeks assault, set it afire and began withdrawing yesterday, but the damage they did to it and to the Changchun-Mukden railway still made it difficult for the two government relief columns to unite.

Also, at last report, the Communists had pulled out only 12 miles to the west and were in position to return to the attack at any moment.

Each side claimed the advantage in the inconclusive fighting which wrecked the city for the second time in little more than a year.

Government officers in this metropolis 105 miles to the southwest, said 50,000 Communists had been killed or captured in the battle, and that three-fifths of the Communists' striking

Chandler Is Guilty Of 'Heinous Crime'

Made Nazi Recordings Under Name Of "Paul Revere" For Broadcast To United States; Penalty May Mean Death

BOSTON, June 28.—(AP)—Douglas Chandler, former Baltimore newsman accused of serving as a Nazi radio commentator during the war, was convicted of treason today by a federal jury.

The verdict was reached after 5 hours and 40 minutes of deliberation which began at noon (E. D. T.).

The tall, thin, 58-year old defendant allegedly made recordings under the name of "Paul Revere" for broadcast to the United States over short wave from Germany.

The penalty for treason may be death or as little as five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine—at the discretion of the presiding judge.

In an 85-minute charge, Judge Francis J. W. Ford told the jury the case was important to the United States of America and important to the defendant, accused of a "most heinous crime."

Chandler was pale but showed no emotion as he stood and heard the jury's verdict. The faces of his two daughters Laurette, 22, and Patricia, 18, were expressionless as they heard the decision.

After Jury Foreman William D. Chappel, Wellesley insurance man, reported the "guilty" verdict, each of the other 11 jurors were polled separately and each stood and answered "guilty."

The jury was asked to give its verdict on each of the 10 overt acts charged against Chandler and on each the jurors were unanimous in their findings of "guilty."

SMOOTH THIEVES TAKE $175,000

'Gentleman' Crooks Rob 11 In Fashionable West-End Allentown Home

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 28.—(AP)—"Gentleman" thieves made off with loot of nearly $175,000 early today after holding up 11 persons in a fashionable 10-room West End home.

Three gunmen and a masked man, described as the ringleader, bound and gagged five couples and a 15-year-old boy in the daring holdup.

Louis Wiener, the manufacturer whose home was entered, said:

"It was just a bad dream that happened, but fortunately no one became excited and frankly they were very gentlemanly about the whole thing."

Of the loot, Wiener said, $133,000 was in non-negotiable bonds which he held in his home safe as trustee of Allentown's Temple Bethel. The remainder was in jewelry, cash and war bonds.

Wiener gave police this version of the holdup:

He and his wife were sitting on the front porch of their home at about 11 p. m. (EDT) last night chatting over vacation plans with store owner Harry Neff and Manufacturer Bernard Salitsky and their wives. Three other persons had just left the porch.

The four men approached, spoke quietly to the group, flourished revolvers and ordered them into the house. Once inside, they bound and gagged—the bonds were not tight, said Wiener—all but Wiener and lowered all window shades. A porch light remained on.

They went upstairs, found 15-year-old Buddy Wiener in bed, and bound and gagged him.

They then told Wiener: "We've heard you had a safe. Show it to us."

Wiener led the men to the safe concealed in the bedroom and opened it. The three gunmen took everything from it while the masked man snipped the telephone wires.

The doorbell rang, with the gunmen issuing orders, Wiener instructed his

EISENHOWER SAYS U. S. ARMY 'POOR SECOND' TO RUSSIA'S

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress today that the army he leads is a "poor second" to Russia's.

As a "professional soldier," the army chief of staff testified that house slashes of $435,000,000 in funds for the year starting Tuesday would "take us well into the danger zone" where the army would lack strength to "pressure the peace" or defend the nation.

Eisenhower told a closed-door senate appropriations subcommittee session that $375,000,000 of this must be restored, and that another $103,000,000 of new funds should be added to cover increasing costs of new fighting planes.

The house allowed $5,280,000,000 cash and $280,000,000 contractual authority for the war department for the year beginning July 1.

While the department estimates do not rate war during the next 12 months as a "probability," the general said, they do not "exclude such a possibility."

"The United States army exerts today far less pressure for peace than it did when it was the world's most formidable fighting force," Eisenhower said. "It is certainly apparent to everyone that great pressure for peace is needed in today's world. I believe the present capability for the United States to exert such pressure should be weakened no further."

Senators who sat through the two-hour session told a reporter they were

DUTCH CALL OFF MILITARY PLANS INTO INDONESIA

Last Minute Pledge From U. S. For Economic Talks Believed Responsible

URGE QUICK FORMATION OF INTERIM GOVERNMENT

BATAVIA, Java., June 27.—(AP)—A last minute pledge from the United States today to discuss economic aid to Indonesia was believed to have caused the Dutch to call off plans for launching military operations against the Indonesian republic on Monday.

The United States, in an "aide memoire," "urged the Indonesian republic, to "cooperate without delay" in the immediate formation of an interim federal government, and added the U. S. was ready to talk about economic help to such a government when it is established.

The note stressed that the Indonesians should accept Dutch sovereignty in the interim government until Jan. 1, 1949, when an independent United States of Indonesia is scheduled to take form. This has been a major unsettled issue between the Dutch and Indonesians.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL PLANS FETE TODAY

The Monroe Vocational School for Negroes, located at Selman Field, will have its formal opening Sunday afternoon with a program replete with music, refreshments, and a soft ball game.

The school, which began classes June 2, is a certified vocational school and features courses including carpentry and automobile mechanics. Length of the cources is 2000 hours.

J. S. Rutledge, school director, especially urged all Negro veterans to attend the activities Sunday and to avail themselves of the training the institute affords.

The program is scheduled to begin at 3 p. m. and the school's bus will make special runs from the Miller-Roy building, 1001 DeSiard St., starting at 2 p. m.

Looking Ahead In Washington

(By The World Staff of Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Regardless of the final Russian position at the Paris conference, few if any state department officials believe Russia will give up her permanent objectives of expanding Soviet power wherever possible.

Foreign Minister Molotov may seek to go along with the European nations to some extent in their recovery plan; but, say diplomatic officials, it will be because he feels he has to, not because he wants to. They won't interpret it as a long range, fundamental change in the Soviet policy of expansion.

American officials are convinced the U. S. will have to maintain a firm and costly policy toward Russia for many years.

One of the basic assumptions of U. S. foreign policy planners is that Russian policy is very flexible. Many apparent concessions by the Russians are regarded here as tactical moves under outside pressures. That's the basis on which American officials explain the completion of some of the European peace treaties and the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Iran a year ago.

Blue Plate Special

WASHINGTON—Legislation to increase the legal minimum wage is likely to be the congressional Republicans' Blue Plate Special for July.

With army-navy unification and presidential succession measures definitely on the GOP "must" list, party leaders have been delaying a decision on other matters to be taken up before a scheduled July 26 adjournment.

The minimum wage proposal is attractive because it appeals to organized labor, offended by passage of the Taft-Hartley labor bill. Besides, one GOP senator said, a minimum wage increase "won't cost the government anything."

World Headquarters Notes

LAKE SUCCESS—United Nations Budgeteers figure on asking the 55 member governments for more money in 1948 to finance many new projects. They would increase the 1947 fund of $27,000,000 by nearly 50 percent.

The United States is expected to ask for a decrease of its contribution. We now pay 39.89 percent of U. N. expenses, but the U. S. delegation is expected to request that our share be dropped to 33.3. Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), U. S. delegate, last fall accepted the present assessment as a temporary arrangement, arguing that no nation should be permitted to pay more than one-third of the costs, lest U. N. become a "rich man's Club," to the detriment of the poorer nations . . .

The proposed international police force for the U. S. seems farther away than ever. Delegates believe also that control of atomic energy and reduction of world armaments are likewise remote, with Russia and the western powers deadlocked on the major issues . . .

Communist tactics in Hungary and Bulgaria, authoritative UN sources speculate, will be attacked by the U. S. when the security council takes up the Balkan investigation commission's report next week. They point out that under similar circumstances Russia attacked U. S. aid to Greece and Turkey in the security council.

Slow Going

WASHINGTON—Lend-lease settlement discussions with the Russians have been going on for two months, and progress has been about twice as slow as expected, government officials blame the delay on the Soviet's failure to produce an inventory listing of what they have left of the $11-296,000,000 worth of lend-lease goods supplied them.

Pepped Up

WASHINGTON—Harold E. Stassen's aides say he is so pepped up over his prospects that he may be found in all 1948 delegate-picking primaries except a few in states having favorite son candidates.

They say that Stassen, former Minnesota governor and navy veteran, was mightily encouraged by the republican presidential preference poll at the Wisconsin state convention, in which he ran a close second to Thomas E. Dewey. He felt it showed a gain for him in party organization strength, which Stassen must have if he is to get anywhere in the nominating convention.

He may even challenge Dewey in New York and Senator Taft in Ohio for convention votes, the aides say, although these two are big question marks at this time.

Overseas Notes

NEW DELHI—The ambassador of the Indian union to Russia, says the special representative of the statesman in Nainital, will be Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, sister of Jawaharlal Nehru. She is expected to leave early in July.

ROME—Some observers think Italy will use the Marshall plan to reopen the question of her African colonies, taken from her by the peace treaty. Foreign office spokesmen say Italy will take "concrete proposals" to the council table, when and if she is invited. There are indications that these will include the suggestion that Italy's economy will be sounder, and thus more useful to European reconstruction, if she has colonial outlets.

Outlook in Aviation

WASHINGTON—Prospects are fading for a vote in the senate and house commerce committees on the bills which would merge all U. S. International airlines . . . Chances are the presidential air safety board will recommend that airlines be required to use flight engineers on domestic flights. This is now general practice on trans-ocean hops.

Aviation Notes

WASHINGTON—Airlines lost about $18,000,000 in the first quarter of 1947, despite the increase in passenger, freight and express business. In all of 1946 they lost only $7,000,000 . . . A new executive order forbids army and navy transport services to compete with the airlines by carrying civilian passengers, except when they are on government business . . . Airlines are trying to get the army and navy transport services to reduce their use of the Washington national airport because of overcrowding. They are also asking the services to permit them to use their nearby fields (Andrews and Patuxent) when commercial traffic is heavy in thick weather.

U. S. Gives In

WASHINGTON—After saying "no" for two years, the U. S. has decided to give in to Belgian and Dutch entreaties that we send part of our shipments to Germany through the ports of Antwerp and Rotterdam.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American zone commander in Germany, has been ordered to begin negotiations as soon as possible to see if an agreement can be reached under which the Brussels and Hague governments would pay whatever extra costs are involved.

The U. S. up to now has used the ports of Bremen and Hamburg because handling and transportation charges there are cheaper.

N. O. SHIPWORKERS CONTRACT EXTENDED

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—(AP)—The Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers (C. I. O.) at Todd-Johnson Dry Docks here today extended its contract 30 days and announced there would be no strike July 1 though there is no agreement on a new contract.

Stanley J. Daul, union president, said the union will live up to its contract which calls for a 30-day extension period from the date of expiration, June 23.

He said he hoped that by that time union wage demands for an hourly raise of 13 cents would be met.

Negotiations between company and union officials, in progress for the past three weeks, are scheduled to be resumed Monday morning.

Asked what action his group would take in the event of a nation-wide shipyard strike July 1, Daul said:

"Our contract with Todd is legally binding and we will abide by it."

RETIREMENT PAY DETAILS GIVEN

95 Per Cent Of Ford Employes Eligible; Get Half Pay After 30 Years

DETROIT, June 28.—(AP)—Richard T. Leonard of the C. I. O. United Auto Workers estimated today that the precedental Ford Motor Co. pension plan would enable a $200-a-month production worker to retire at half pay after 30 years.

Leonard, vice-president of the U. A. W.-C. I. O. and director of its Ford department, revealed major details of the pension plan, the first of its kind in a major automotive producing plant.

The tentative pension agreement, announced Friday, supplements a seven cent hourly wage boost granted 110,000 Ford production workers.

Leonard estimated that 95 percent of these employes are eligible to participate in the pension plan from its outset. The remainder would become eligible after an unspecified number of months with the firm.

He said retirement age had not been agreed upon but probably would be set between 55 and 65.

"A Ford worker earning $200 a month would contribute about $1,800 in 30 years and would receive $100 a month at retirement," Leonard asserted. "If the same worker were to purchase an individual annuity to pay him $55 a month for life it would cost him about $9,000."

The average Ford worker, with the seven cent increase, would make about $1.46½ an hour, or about $234 per month on the basis of a full 40-hour week.

Federal social security was taken into account by Leonard in figuring the eventual pension payments.

The company did not comment on the working of the pension plan.

Leonard said it provides the following:

1. On retirement, each Ford worker will receive one percent of his pay times the number of years service, in addition to federal social security. The same credit will be given for past as well as future service, building up a pension fund for workers already employed for many years.

2. In the event of death, all employe contributions, plus interest, will be payable to the employe's beneficiary.

3. Each worker will have "full vested rights in his contribution and partial vested rights in that of the company."

The plan, retroactive to last Jan. 1, would become effective with the signing of the proposed agreement, which must be ratified by Ford's U. A. W.-C. I. O. employes.

The union estimated that the pension plan would cost Ford $200,000,000 the first year and $15,000,000 annually thereafter.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

This column drew attention yesterday to the crisis in China's life and death struggle, and concluded with the observation that "doctors don't abandon a patient without giving him the benefit of every possible treatment."

Well, the doctors in Washington once more have devised an emergency treatment for the sick man of Asia.

The United States has agreed to sell Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek 130,000,000 rounds of surplus rifle ammunition for his hard-pressed troops in their fierce way with the Chinese Communists. Chiang's government also has been authorized to purchase other military supplies from private American manufacturers. And the Export-Import Bank has announced that it will consider lending money to China for specific projects.

That seems like the logical remedy to try at this juncture. It's logical because, while China's needs are many and diversified, she considers her essential requirement right now to be the wherewithal to defeat the Chineses Communists.

I realize that this assertion is strong mustard and gives rise to the question of why defeat of the Communists should be placed ahead of, say, further reform in the national government with the idea of winning over the Reds peacefully. Must the Chinese political quarrel be settled on the battle-field?

We discussed a partial answer to this briefly in yesterday's column. It is that there is no possible compromise between Communism and any other political belief on the face of the earth. No country could be part Communist and part something else. It's that cardinal fact which rapidly is dividing the globe into two camps which are at swords point politically, economically and religiously.

However, that isn't the whole story by a long shot. There's another highly important angle to which Catholic Archbishop Paul Yu-Pin drew attention yesterday at Nanking in a statement calling for American aid. He declared that China's civil war actually is a "foreign war." He added that unless the United States gave assistance, "she herself may be the next victim," and China may become the birthplace of World War III.

The significance of the archbishop's remark about a "foreign war" is of course that it echoes Chinese nationalist government charges that Russia is aiding the Chinese Communists in their effort to overthrow the Nanking government and establish Communism in China. As a matter of fact this charge isn't new, but has been maintaind by Chiang's government for a long time. The Russians are accused not only of furnishing the Chinese rebels with war supplies, but with having turned important military positions over to them when the Soviet forces were withdrawing from Manchuria.

Anyway, the vital point is that if the Chinese Communists should be successful in their rebellion, Moscow ultimately would add China with its five hundred millions to the Soviet sphere of influence. That would make Russia the dominant power in the Orient. Small wonder then that Archbishop Paul Yu-Pin should think of China as the possible birthplace of a third world war.

So China would seem to be confronted with a very terrible paradox: That she must forge peace in the flames of war.

SAFE, SANE MOTORING SOUGHT FOR JULY 4TH

Police Chief J. D. Busby announced Saturday that the Fourth of July holiday week-end will again be the occasion for a seasonal traffic enforcement program. The program is being held, he said, in cooperation with the nation-wide effort being made by the National Safety Council to reduce the high death toll which occurs each year at this time.

"The police Department is asking each citizen to take special precautions in an effort to save lives and property over the Fourth," Chief Busby said.

He predicted that traffic will be unusually heavy during this year's celebration, for thousands are still catching up on the pleasure driving they had to forego because of restrictions on travel during the war years.

"The long week-end, the festive spirit of the holiday and more motorists on the road will make the Fourth this year a time of real hazard," Chief Busby said. "Let's all work together to make Monroe one place where the Fourth of July does not mean death and disaster to any of our people. Instead, let us make it a day of joyful and safe celebration of the independence which it commemorates."

IBM PRESIDENT ACCEPTS POST

Thomas J. Watson Named Chairman Of Christian Group For Jewish Relief

NEW YORK, June 28.—Special)—Thomas J. Watson, President of International Business Machines Corporation, and former President of the International Chamber of Commerce this week accepted the Chairmanship of the National Christian Committee for the United Jewish Appeal to help provide for the relief, rehabilitation and resettlement of Europe's 1,500,000 Jewish survivors of Hitlerism.

Watson announced his acceptance at a meeting in his office with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., General Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal's $170,000,000 nation-wide drive, on behalf of the Joint Distribution Committee, United Palestine Appeal and United Service for New Americans. In accepting the post, the prominent American business leader declared that the "resettlement of the homeless Jews of Europe is a paramount problem that is closely related to the well-being of all men."

Watson added that "proper adjustments should be made in our immigrant quota in keeping with America's unique record of hospitality to the downtrodden and prosecuted of other lands."

The membership of the National Christian Committee consists of 120 foremost leaders in government, business, religion, education, science and art. It is the first occasion in the history of the United Jewish Appeal that a national organization of Christians has been formed to support its campaign for aid to the Jewish survivors of war and persecution overseas.

In extending his invitation to Watson to serve as Chairman of the National Christian Committee, Morgenthau declared that the noted business leader "epitomized the humanitarian spirit of America" and that his acceptance would give encouragement to the people who are aided by the United Jewish Appeal.

The former Secretary of the Treasury added that the National Christian Committee for the United Jewish Appeal "bears witness to the spirit of American unity and neighborliness in meeting a human problem that must evoke the sympathy of all freedom-loving men, regardless of race or creed."

Ten-Acre Spacing

At a meeting here Friday oil operators—representing both independent producers and the major companies—urged that ten-acre spacing, that is one well for each ten acres, be adopted by the state conservation commission in the new Ora field in Union parish. There was a unanimous opinion that such a ruling should be made, and we concur wholeheartedly.

Wider spacing of wells in that field would prevent the proper draining of oil in that field. The meeting was attended by some 75 persons who are vitally interested in the development of the new field, and all of those who testified agreed that the structure of the Nacatosh sand in the field is such that oil could not be produced in paying quantities under regulations which would require wider spacing.

Certainly these men who have had wide experience in drilling throughout the oil-bearing structures know what they're talking about. When such unanimity occurs between a group of persons who are experts in their business and who represent various interests it seems to us that the conservation commission should seriously consider their testimony and respect their opinions. The commissioner announced that the application for the ten-acre spacing would be taken under advisement and a ruling would be made in the near future.

The new Ora field means much to Northeast Louisiana, just as did the fields in Richland and Franklin parishes and other areas in this section. The oil men who are engaged in developing this field know most of the answers as far as the sand and the depth and other engineering concepts are concerned and their advice should be heeded. They are expects in their line of work and certainly with such vast expenditures which will depend upon their knowledge, their opinions are naturally to be respected or they would not be occupying the responsible positions which they hold.

It is hoped that the Conservation Commission, headed by Commissioner Joseph L. McHugh, will heed the advice of these persons who are so interested in the further exploration of the field. The need for additional oil reserves has been stressed by the federal government during the past few weeks and certainly no restraint of unreasonable nature should be placed upon the industry, whether they be independent producers or the major companies.

SECRET TRIAL

The hush-hush trial of Lieut. Cmdr. Edward Neal Little on charges of maltreating fellow Americans in a Jap prisoner-of-war camp is as un-American a procedure as has been called to public attention for many a decade.

It is explained the trial, in progress since March, is hush-hush because of a request by Little. Since when does a defendant dictate the terms of his trial?

This is more than a matter of the Navy taking care of its own. The armed services never have progressed as far toward democracy as the nation. This lack of progress has been upheld by the excuse of discipline. But militarism and totalitarianism always were synonymous terms.

It is still painful to many Army men to be told that Army procedure should deviate from "squads right and squads left." This belief in an antiquated military system persisted in World War I to a point that, despite trench warfare and inevitable offensives, men were given little training other than squads right. The result was that many outfits had poor liaison and suffered from lack of experience in open warfare.

Mechanizing of the Army did away with most of the squads right theory of fighting a war. Abuses of officers' privileges in the recent war led to other reforms. But there is room for additional improvement. The Navy might as well face the inevitable and go modern on procedure. Regardless of whether Little is guilty, hush-hush is not democratic. If he is innocent he has nothing to hide; if guilty, why should he be granted a secret trial?

BRITAIN'S OLD GAME

Britain is busily engaged in the old balance of power game that has kept that nation in international prominence for a couple of centuries. London, it is announced, will trade industrial products for Russian food and other raw materials, although Russia is supposed to have no surplus food and is robbing starving countries under its control.

The United States has already given the British (and "given" is used advisedly) a little matter of $4,000,000,000, in addition to many billions of lend-lease. But if Congress gives them more to build up a strong relationship with Russia as a threat to America, members of that body ought to have their heads examined.

Gleeful assertion of the British press that Bevin's surprise deal with Russia will cause consternation in America need not be confirmed. The day will never come when this country will find it necessary to outbid Russia for Britain's favor.

AN OUTRAGE

A survey discloses that 19,000,000 men are under arms throughout the world and that 40 nations are spending nearly $30,000,000,000 annually on armaments. This is $10,000,000,000 more than was being spent on armaments in 1938, the year before the war. More men are under arms now than in prewar years despite the disappearance of the military regimes in Germany, Japan and Italy.

The overwhelming majority of humankind wants none of this. It is an interesting conjecture how much smaller world expenditures for militarism would be today were it not for red Russia. It is an outrage to every human aspiration that nearly $30,000,000,000 is devoted to war when millions are slowly dying for want of food.

Too brutal for kids, but a triple-A dramatic sock for adults who aren't too squeamish, this one's a cinch to be one of the most controversial films of the year. . . . RECOMMENDED: "The Overlanders" (British-made). A remarkably interesting documentary drama, showing the mass drive of cattle across the Australian continent in 1942, to save them from threatened invasion by the Japs. . . . GOOD: Republic's "Saddle Pals" (Gene Autry-Lynne Roberts-Sterling Holloway). Not quite up to the Autry par, but still a better-than-average western musical. . . . RUN-OF-THE-MILL: Columbia's "Law of the Canyon" (Charles Starrett-Nancy Saunders-Smiley Burnette). Proves that a canyon can be a "yawning" affair. . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Hume Cronyn in "Brute Force."

I'm going to be unusually charitable and refrain from mentioning names—but I hope that a few Hollywood readers will draw the correct conclusions. A few weeks ago, with much publicity fanfare, two Filmville celebrities (Mr. and Mrs.) announced that they were sponsoring a carnival and garden party to be held at their residence for the benefit of one of the most worthy charities in all America. A prime feature of the party was a fund-raising auction of souvenirs donated by big name stars. For two weeks, the sponsors of the party reaped a tidy harvest of laudatory publicity. Then came the day of the soiree. And the famous Mr. and Mrs. didn't even put in an appearance. The party was saved by another star, who rushed into the breach and handled the auction. It's to be hoped that the sponsors had an excellent excuse.

After a studio preview the other evening, I overheard two critics talking about the performance of the leading lady—and an outstandingly fine performance it was. Said one: "Imagine Ingrid Bergman in that role—what a job she'd have turned in!" Said the other: "Yes, it's a shame she couldn't have played it!" Listening, it suddenly struck me that Miss Bergman has involuntarily become the No. 1 handicap of every other actress in the business. No matter how faultless their work, they are foredoomed to comparison with the versatile Swede. If I've been guilty of such idiotic comparisons myself—and I'll admit frankly that I have—I'm sorry. It's distinctly unfair. Miss Bergman has earned enough laurels by work done, without being given vicarious plaudits for every part that she could imaginably play. And an actress who handles a difficult role and handles it well, should not have her glory diminished by an uncalled for assumption that someone else might have done it even better.

In one of the movie trade papers' classified advertising sections was an ad, one day this week, that left me irritated. It offered a house for sale—and s'help me, the principal claim made for the property was the statement that it was only a short distance from the home of Clark Gable! That type of selling has become Hollywood tradition. The haberdashery salesman never offers a hat without assuring his commoner customers that some star "bought one just like it." Grocers boast about their stellar customers—as if that boast makes a steak any better. Maybe we Americans are chumps, but it's hardly polite to keep calling our follies to our attention.

News BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A week before the union reform veto vote, the big quadumvirate of labor, Messrs. John Lewis, Green, Phil Murray and Dan Tobin, met here and rendered a decision which was not made public. In effect they laid a whip over President Truman and put a tip-bite on the end. They anticipated the subsequent veto from the White House, and let it be known within Democratic party ranks that unless Mr. Truman threw enough weight on Congress to sustain his veto, the said veto would be regarded as a routine gesture—"Phoney" is the word they actually used, according to Democrats who received it. In this sharp and pushing way, they told Mr. Truman that unless he succeeded in getting Congress to kill the bill, his veto alone would not warrant their confidence.

This explains the strenuous moves made by the president to impose his will on the legislators against their's. This was what was behind his unique activity, calling Senators to confer, writing sequels to floor leader Barkley on his veto message saying he really meant it, and even getting some railroad cars and a plane to haul the ill Senator Wagner from New York and the traveler Senator Thomas from Europe.

Of course, none of it worked, not even the railroad car or the plane. Wagner was too ill, Thomas too something or other, and both would not have made any difference in the result anyway.

The invitation of the seven Democratic Senators and one Republican to lunch at the White House was a waste of food. Senator Sparkman was in the group and he changed his vote in order to support the Presidential veto, but he had decided to do this long before. He said as soon as the bill passed that his vote for it would be changed on a veto if the president offered reasons sufficient to him. Sparkman was party whip when he was member of the House, and he is something of a New Dealer or liberal at times. What influenced him most probably was party loyalty. The lone Republican at the lunch, Young, of North Dakota, said it was embarrassing for him to eat with so many Democrats, and the lunch therefore may have encouraged him to oppose the President. Yet actually the southern Democrats are known to have decided among themselves in advance to withstand whatever pressure could possibly be mustered against them by the unions and White House. One of their group said the confidence of the people in elected officials would be destroyed if they changed for the President or in fear of the unions.

Party loyalty probably also was responsible for the only other switch to the president on the veto in the Senate, Lucas, of Illinois. He is party loyalty. If either Sparkman or Lucas got any promises of Judgeships or postmasters, the reporters around the Senate did not know it. They accepted these switches as coming in the normal course.

On the tax vote, minority leader John McCormack had done a heavy inside pressure job. He defeated overriding of that Presidential veto in the House, using particularly the argument that the Senate would fail to over-ride anyway, so House Democrats could afford to get on the White House bandwagon with impunity.

But verily, the union reform override was rather well cut and dried in advance in the Senate. Senator Taft's first polls showed a 4 vote favorable margin (he thought he might lose Aiken and Tobey.) But the Republicans made the issue a party matter and lost only the three Republican Senators who originally opposed their party, Morse, Malone and Langer.

So while the utmost organized pressure was practiced, none by anyone made any difference. The determination of both sides not to do any political undercutting on this issue preserved original positions.

Whether Messrs. Lewis, Green, Murray and Tobin now think Mr. Truman's veto was "phony," the Democratic side of the Senate was not immediately advised. Perhaps the quadumvirate only wished to scare the President. Everyone agrees that at least did that.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson For July 6
Scripture: Job 1:1; 27:1-5; 31:19-28
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Are there problems that are "modern" in the sense that men have never encountered them before our time?

Such a thing is neither impossible nor improbable. For the external conditions of life have changed greatly within a single generation, and new occasions and environments must surely bring some new problems.

We are all living in a world that has become smaller by reason of new discoveries and means of transportation. But at the same time that world has become an immensely enlarged environment for the individual by reason of that very fact.

Facts and contrasts strike a great deal deeper in the new occasions. And so a poet has told us teach new duties, and therefore present new problems.

Nevertheless, some problems are as old as man himself, and one thing that is unchanged is the fact that man himself has to be the problem solver. So ancient experience and wisdom may have much to offer, even in the presence of problems that are as new as the new-born day.

Deep and unchanged in human life is the problem of suffering and especially the suffering of the apparently morally guiltless. Much human suffering offers no problem, though the fact may not alter its acuteness. It is the direct and observable result of sheer disregard of moral or physical laws. But the suffering of the good is another thing.

It is this problem with which the Book of Job deals. The Book has been called "a sublime drama of God's providence and man's suffering." Its central character, Job, a man of moral rectitude and apparently blameless life, is stricken with dire calamity, in himself, his family, and his affairs.

The situation is made acutely dramatic to bring out the full reality of the problem. Yet it is no more extreme than that which many men and women have experienced today, especially the thousands of innocent people who suffered war's ruthlessness and Hitlerism.

Three of Job's friends sought to comfort him with plausible or conventional notions. These notions centered around the idea that suffering is a sure sign of sin and that Job must be guilty of some secret fault.

Th's easy view Job refuses to accept. His faith is tried, and he is tempted to "curse God and die." But while he finds no solution of the problem of suffering, he finds a solution of his personal problem in the conviction that the Judge of the earth will do right and in the determination to trust Him no matter what may happen.

Our Children

CHOOSING HIS MATE

"Our son is just 20 years old. He served overseas and returned to graduate from college last fall. While abroad he met a girl about whom we know nothing but from what we gather is far beneath him in family background, education and intelligence. He insists upon marrying her and we insist that he shall not. We have told him that if he marries this girl we will have no more to do with him and we mean it. How can we persuade him that this girl is not worth what she will cost him?

"This girl has no money and he will have none if he carries her. He has been used to a good home where everything was done for him. He has no job and isn't prepared for any. He should be working with a firm of engineers to get experience. He is throwing away his future and we can't do anything about it. We're heartbroken. What is to be done?"

Of all the family problems that rise to trouble parents this is the one for which there is no solution because it is really a personal matter concerning only the one who is selecting his mate. Parents can advise, rave, storm and threaten; they can help, hinder or ignore. But the person concerned alone is the deciding judge.

That being the case, it is better to withdraw any objection, to stand aside and let the young people do as they intend to do anyway. Nobody can tell how a marriage is going to turn out. It is not money, social position, education nor culture that makes a happy marriage. What decides the matter is the quality of the characters involved and the feeling they have for each other.

If they love each other more than anything, anybody else in the world, the rest does not matter. If they do love somebody or something else outside each other's being, the odds are against them.

Give the girl, the boy a chance. Advise, argue if you must. But if they are firm in their decision, stand back and don't threaten. Don't prophesy evil, don't say things that are going to stick like thorns in their minds long after you are dead.

All you want is the happiness of your child. What that is, where it lies, he must decide. Nobody else can. Give him a chance to work things out and lend a hand when you can. Would you have given up your life partner because your father or mother disliked and feared the mariage? Neither will your child do so. Better take it gracefully and do the best you can for him.

It is hard for a child to be told not to cry. Dr. Patri explains the procedure for parents who have a child that cries. Ask for leaflet P-4, "Crying Children."

"IN WASHINGTON"

By Bascom N. Timmons

WASHINGTON.—The 80th Congress, rapidly nearing the close of its first session, is piling up a tremendous stack of unfinished business for its second one starting next January.

Many important bills which have both Republican and Democratic support will remain on the legislative calendar, some of them partially through their legislative trip, if Congress adjourns at the end of July as GOP leaders have promised. And unless Congress moves faster next session than it ha during the one nearing its conclusion, legislative casualties will be heavy.

Prospects are, however, that Congress will accomplish far more in the way of actual legislation next session than at this one. Primary reason is that the spade-work on many bills has been done by Senate and House committees during the past several months, and they will be ready to speed the measures to the floors soon after Congress re-convenes in January.

Though Congress to date has passed only seven major bills, one of which failed to become law because of President Truman's veto, never has there been so much committee work. An all time high was reached recently when forty-two full and sub-committees not on a single morning to conduct hearings or consider bills.

There are other factors which have contributed to what would appear to be a poor record on the part of the 80th Congress. When the Congress convened in January, for instance, it was faced with the job of not only changing from Democratic to Republican control, but completely reorganizing itself as well under the terms of the Congressional reorganization act. These two tasks consumed most of the first two months of the sesssion, and put Congress well behind schedule before it was even ready to start legislating.

Republican leaders' determination to carry out two of their 1946 campaign promises—tax reduction and labor legislation—likewise consumed considerable time due to all-out Administration efforts to kill both pieces of legislation.

Least talked about reason for delaying action upon several major bills until next session, of course, is the Republican party desire to cash in on these measures in the 1948 Presidential election. Experienced politicians are well aware that voters forget very quickly. Bills which appeal to on as close to next November as possible.

Among major measures which are largely non-partisan in nature which seem certain to go over until the seclude such bills as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-term low cost housing measure; new comprehensive post-war farm legislation; and a national health bill.

A vigorous drive is underway now to get action this session on the Taft-McCowen bid to education bill, which would help the states meet rapidly ingetting caught in the drive for adjournment.

Later move to enact income tax reduction legislation now to become effective January 1, backed by GOP leaders, may interfere with plans to enact a comprehensive tax revision law next year. Should this new bill win out, it is considered doubtful that Congress would enact another bill next year. The general revision would then probably go over until 1949. The House Ways and Means committee, nevertheless, is proceeding with its study of the multitude of proposals for changes in the tax law which have been advanced by both the Administration and private groups.

No attempt to enact such controversial measures as a permanent FEPC or anti-poll tax bill will be made at this session. They will be saved for next year, when Republican drivees to get them by the Democratic southern votes in November.

But the real political legislative battle being saved by Republican leaders for the next session will invole the age-old tariff dispute between the two major paries.

The present act authorizing reciprocal trade agreements between the United States and other nations expires in June next year. Unless a bill extending the life of the act can be pushed through Congress, President Truman will lose a power which he and many Democratic leaders feel is all-important to the nation's foreign policy.

Failure to enact an extension measure would not mean death to the existing agreements, so long as they are not terminated by one or both of the nations. But it would foreclose any new agreements, or changes in those now in operation.

Whether the Republican high command will decide to terminate the whole power, or specifically restrict nally determined. But there is no question but what this tariff fight will highlight the political maneuvering of the 80th Congress' second session, only a few months before the voters go to the polls to select a President.

INTEREST SHOWN IN BUGSY'S GIRL

Friendship With Heiress Being Studied; Was Slain In Her Mansion

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 28.—(AP)—Slain Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel's friendship with Virginia Hill, the Alabama Heiress in whose mansion he was slain, was studied more intently today by district attorney's investigators following a talk with Miss Hill's brother.

Charles Hill, 21, who was in the house when a gunman pumped at least four shots into the one-time public enemy, said Siegel had told him he wanted to marry his sister and 'I'm certain Virginia was very much in love with him," Dep. Dist. Atty. Ernest Roll reported.

Asked if his sister, known as one of the film capital's most lavish partygivers, had obtained her money from three former husbands, Hill was quoted by Roll as replying "they don't have that kind of money."

Miss Hill is in Paris at present. Her brother, Roll added, said that was because she and Siegel had "split up."

"After she left," Roll quoted Hill, "Siegel came out to the house to close it up. He said he was going to take his two daughters (Millicent, 16, and Barbara, 14) to Vancouver for a vacation."

Authorities also questioned Mrs. Esther Siegel, who divorced the rackets boss and operator of the gaudy Flamingo Club at Las Vegas a year ago. But they reported she had little to say except "he was a good husband and father," and, as far as she knew, without an enemy.

District Atty. William E. Simpson said she disclaimed all knowledge of his underworld connections.

"I never heard of a single soul who didn't love him," she was quoted as saying. "I divorced him only because I was so lonesome. He was so seldom home."

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

A man in a blue serge suit was walking along a country road. The June sun was making little bubbles in the tar underfoot.

Billy Rose

The man wished he had accepted the real estate agent's offer to drive him out and show him the Lacey farm.

A station wagon with "U. S. Mail—R. F. D." stencilled on its side pulled up alongside him. "Hop in," said the driver. "Ain't supposed to pick up passengers, but I don't guess anybody'll see us out here.

"Where you headed? The Lacey place? Mighty nice piece of property. I guess you never knew Jim Lacey, did you? Well, he was quite a card. Always figuring out some new piece of devilment. I never did see the beat of Jim at a church sociable or a wedding. Always cutting up. When you'd shake hands with him, he'd have a little buzzer in his palm and give you a shock. Sent away for it to a mail order house in Chicago. Called on my daughter, Ellie, one day and handed her a box of candy. When she opened it, one of those trick green snakes jumped out. I remember the time Jim was best man at Bill Ferris' wedding. He offered Bill a drink in one of those trick dribble glasses. The wedding was postponed half an hour till they fetched Bill a dry shirt.

"Yessir, we sure miss Jim around here. Don't seem as if any of the new crop of young fellows has his sense of humor. Never forget the time he scared the daylights out of me. About ten years ago, it was. I was making my regular mail delivery along this road. As I got to the Lacey place. Ben Morton came running out of the barn. Ben was Jim's best friend, and they used to play together all the time. Ben was hollering something awful. I climbed out of the Lizzie and run up to the barn behind him. And there I see Jim Lacy hanging from a rafter. Rope around his neck. Getting a little purple in the face.

"I picked up a scythe and cut him down. As soon as he hit the floor, he dived between my legs and skedaddled for the field, laughing fit to bust. Seems he'd seen a fellow do this here hanging trick in the circus and he practiced up on it till he got it right. Got so he could tense up his neck muscles and hang for two or three minutes. Of course, he'd never pull it unless he knew someone was handy to cut him down. I hear tell he did this trick at a couple of parties later on and had the girls in conniptions.

"When the war came along, Jim Lacey got drafted. His friend, Ben Morton, didn't wait for the draft board. Signed up the day after Pearl Harbor and was shipped overseas pretty quick. Jim was sent to one of the camps down in Georgia. I guess he didn't care about the army much and wasn't too interested in what the shooting was all about. I used to read the postcards he sent home. I got the feeling the fellows in Georgia didn't appreciate Jim.

"One day he showed back here in civies again. You know how Jim got out? With that old hanging trick! He told me he strung himself up one night in the barracks when he knew the guard on duty was coming through. The doctors figured he was a psycho watchamacallit and sent him home.

"He worked the farm after that. When old man Lacey died, Jim took the insurance money and got himself some good machinery. Did right well—you know the way prices were.

"Well, after the war was over, one of the first boys to get back was Ben Morton. He naturally wanted to say hello to his old friend, Jim, and came walking out this way. I passed him on the road about a quarter mile from the Lacey farm. Offered him a lift, but he said he was enjoying the walk.

"I didn't have any mail for Jim that day, but as I passed his place I hollered out that Ben Morton was coming up the road.

"Ben told me the rest of the story. When he got up to the house and yelled for Jim. Jim called out from the barn and told him he was in there. When Ben walked into the barn, Jim was hanging by the neck from one of the crossbeams with a big grin on his face. He was doing his old trick to have Ben a laugh."

The old postman brought the station wagon to a stop.

"Well, here's the Lacey place," he told the man in the blue serge suit. "Mighty nice piece of property. Too bad Jim ain't around to show it to you. You'd have got a big kick out of Jim. He was quite a card.

"And too bad his friend, Ben Morton, wasn't able to cut him down in time. You see, Ben had had both his arms blasted off on the beach at Anzio."

FLASH FLOOD DROWNS CHILD IN TENNESSEE

GREENVILLE, Tenn., June 28.—(AP)—One child was drowned and crop and property demage were widespread in the flash floods and cloudbursts which struck northeastern Tennessee before noon today.

More than five inches of rain fell here in a three-hour cloudburst, sending water rushing into downtown stores and forcing more than a dozen families from their homes.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Knoxville reported rainfall of more than two inches general over northeastern Tennessee, with 5.25 inches at Greenville.

MOTHER OF PRESIDENT 'GETTING ALONG FINE'

GRANDVIEW, Mo., June 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Martha E. Truman, mother of the President, was reported today by her daughter, Miss Mary Jane Truman, to be "getting along fine, but not recovering as rapidly as we would like," from her serious illness of five weeks ago.

Miss Truman said her 94-year-old mother was sitting up occasionally, "but not every day." She added that Mrs. Truman's hearing had deteriorated in the past two or three months, but "we hope that it will improve as she is able to sit up more."

JEWISH LEADER DOUBTS U. N. AID

'No Illusions' That Underground Organization Will Get Its Aims

JERUSALEM, June 28.—(AP)—Menachem Beigin, commander-in-chief of Irgun Zvai Leumi, declared today his underground fighters had "no illusions" that the United Nations would grant his organization's aims in Palestine.

In an interview at his secret hideaway the one-time Polish lawyer, upon whose head the British have placed a price of $8,000, asserted Irgun was "ready for a long fight" and prophesied dourly "many of my generation probably will not die in their beds."

He said that the "very construction" of the United Nations commission now attempting to work out a solution to the Holy Land problem "makes us pessimistic. Australia and Canadian members, for instance, never will sign a report that to be just must necessarily deal with autocracy and brutality of British rule in our land."

Irgun is currently refraining from any acts of violence in the Holy Land except for "reactions to British acts of violence against us," he said.

Beigin, well-dressed and cultured, fled Poland when Hitler arrived in 1939, wandered over Europe and finally landed in Wilno, Lithuania. He spent two years as a lance corporal in the Polish army of Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, then beat his way to Palestine five years ago and soon took over command of Irgun.

Under his leadership Irgun has blasted away at the British mandatory government. Their attacks included the bombing of the King David hotel almost a year ago in which nearly 100 persons were killed, the attack on the Goldsmith officers' club last March which killed 16 and the May 4 Acre prison break which liberated 236 Jewish and Arab prisoners and resulted in 10 deaths, mostly to the attackers.

In the interview, Beigin rejected flatly partition of Palestine even as an interim solution, asserting it was "not only immoral but impractical."

"Since all Jewry has but one aim, to regain our homeland, to sign a treaty accepting part of it provisionally would be tantamount to a declaration of future war," he declared

"The Arab leadership says 'partition means war.' If that is true then let us have war for a real solution."

Beigin proposed the establishment by international order of a provisional Hebrew government of Palestine and the opening of the gates to all Jews who want to enter. That would be followed by internationally-controlled elections to create a democratic government.

Yesterday Irgun delivered to the United Nations commission on Palestine a 42-page brief proposing a five point "solution" for the Holy Land. The proposal, based on its demands for Jewish sovereignty on both sides of the Jordan, calls for abolition of British occupation forces; transfer of power to a Hebrew provisional government; "repatriation" of all Jews wanting to go to Palestine "with aid of an international body; the holding of democratic elections at the conclusion of "repatriation;" and obtaining loans for the newly arrived families and also Arab peasants "who suffer from chronic want under the double yoke of serfdom and exploitation."

Mrs. Leona M. Anderson, 51, was killed in an auto mishap near Sulphur, Oklahoma early yesterday morning, while enroute to her home in Arkansas City, Kans., following a visit with her only daughter, Mrs. Byron R. Breard, Alvin Road, West Monroe.

It was reported that she left Monroe early Friday morning and that she was motoring alone when the accident occurred at approximately six a. m. yesterday.

Her husband, who visited Mrs. Breard here last year, was killed in an explosion shortly after returning to his home in Kansas.

Mrs. Anderson is survived by her daughter; two sisters, both of Kansas, and a grandson, Byron R. Breard, Jr.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas
(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.

'Twas a warm summer day and all through the town
Not an item was stirring from the stars of renown.
No couple was vooming or discovering each other;
No announcement came forth from a Crosby brother.
Marilyn Maxwell was dateless, as was Peter Lawford;
There was no new boy friend dining out with Joan Crawford.
Oscar Levant brought forth no clever quip;
No player was planning a South American trip.
Warners threw no one on "friendly" suspension;
Sam Goldwyn viewed nothing with dire apprehension.
Not Johnson, nor Taylor, nor Bogart, nor Peck
Barely avoided a bad traffic wreck.
No one discovered a new Valentino;
Gene Autry fell off no rough Palomino.
Al Jolson was off the air for a night;
Sunset strip night clubs had nary a fight.
"Cutlaw" and "Duel" weren't banned anywhere;
Retirement's end wasn't mulled by Astaire.
Sinatra failed to warble a ditty;
Larry Tierney was out of the city.
Not a stir from NBC vice-presidents;
No shot was heard from Beverly Hills residents.
No new film was named to feature Clark Gable;
No starlet was gifted with ermine and sable.
Press agents changed no star's sniffles to flu;
Orson Welles was idle and Chaplin, too.
Lana and Tyrone spent the evening apart;
Boris Karloff gave no one a start.
No gateman failed to recognize a star;
Bing Crosby's golf game was well over par.
All was quiet with Vidor and Cohn;
And Atwater Kent was dining alone.
'Twas a clear day, too, but—this was the end—
A reporter couldn't even sight a trend.
One headline remained for the editor's work:
"17 Movie Columnists Go Berserk."

ATTORNEY TO RUN FOR LT. GOVERNOR

Shreveport Veteran Announces As Candidate On Ticket With Martin

SHREVEPORT, La., June 28. Arthur N. Sample, Jr., Shreveport attorney, today announced that he would be candidate for lieutenant governor of Louisiana, running with Wade O. Martin, Jr., of Baton Rouge, candidate for governor.

A native of Caddo Parish, Sample was born in Shreveport and educated in elementary and high schools of this city. He attended Yale University, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1933. Later, he attended Louisiana State University, receiving there his bachelor of laws degree in 1936.

From 1936 until 1940, Sample engaged in private law practice in Shreveport, when he was called into Federal service with the 31st Infantry division, Louisiana National Guard, and later served with the IV Corps and the Third Army. In 1943, he joined the 88th Infantry division, with which he served overseas in North Africa and Italy until the end of the war. Sample holds the American Defense Service medal, the American Campaign medal, the European-African-Middle Eastern Campaign Medal with three stars, and the Bronze Star medal.

Since his separation from the service in 1946, Sample has returned to private law practice. The candidate is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Reserve Officers Association. His father, Arthur N. Sample, Sr., is a well known planter and stockman of Red River Parish.

Discussing his candidacy, Mr. Sample said, "I feel that at this time there is great need in Louisiana government for vigorous and constructive action We have in our state an abundance of resources, an adequacy of facilities to promote it to a position of economic security. We have people who are intelligent, capable, and aspiring to success. But we need in positions of government the type of leadership to bring these possibilities into reality.

CIVILIANS MAY GET TOP MILITARY JOBS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—A house expenditures subcommittee accused the war assets administration today of "misrepresentation and deception" and urged that top military officials in it be replaced by civilians.

In a report to the full committee, a special group which investigated the WAA said it has turned over to the justice department and the internal revenue bureau for further examination evidence of 'unconscionable" contracts.

A major recommendation was that the house adopt a resolution directing the speaker to notify President Truman that the surplus disposal program "as conducted by the present administrator" (Robert M. Littlejohn, a retired Major General) is "unsatisfactory" and that "domination" of the WAA by military men violates the intent of congress.

It urged that the WAA be given "leadership of a civilian, rather than military, character" and that key officials be civilians.

SEEK TO IMPROVE SCHOOL STANDARDS

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—(AP)—Improved standards of education in the state will be discussed at the 10th annual convention of the Louisiana school boards association opening here tomorrow.

Nearly 500 school board members have made reservations for the three-day meeting and others are expected to register Sunday.

A meeting of the administrative council opens the convention Sunday evening and formal business sessions get under way Monday morning.

The convention concludes Tuesday with committee reports and election of officers.

The past weeks have brought an increasing number of letters to the News-Star—World Vote For Books contest, all of them expressing an earnest desire on the part of the youngsters of the parish of more books and better library facilities.

The appeals for the additional funds which the half-mill library tax would provide reveal both a yearning for easy entrance into the world of fiction and knowledge, and an awareness of the necessity for education in producing better and more responsible citizens.

Jessie Lee Frost of Monroe writes: I am very interested in having our libraries increased and having a bookmobile go around to the country stores for people who live in the country to have books to read.

I think everyone in Ouachita parish should have the pleasure of reading books from the parish library.

I love to read very much but I don't have the pleasure of reading books because I don't have any of my own and I don't always have way to go to the Public library.

From Carl Taylor Wright, fifth grade student at Barkdull Faulk School:

I am most interested in this tax because the country children would be able to read books that we read. It educates them to have a better life.

If I lived in the country I would like to read books that city boys and girls read.

Leave the door open at night for people that work at night.

Have children's librarians to show them where the books they want are. And have many new ones for children and other people.

You vote; we are too young.

Darrell Holt, pupil at Sherrouse School, avers:

I surely will be glad when that bookmobile comes by here. I like books, especially when it rains and I don't have anything else to do.

The kind of books I like best are about animals especially about horses and dogs.

Here's hoping we get both the bookmobile and the story hour.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS WEIGHTS INSPECTOR

BATON ROUGE, La., June 28.—(AP)—Gov. Jimmie Davis today appointed State Sen. Phil Arras of New Orleans state inspector of weights and measures.

Pascal Imbruglio resigned from the position early this month after charges of bribery had been brought against him in criminal district court in connection with an alleged weekly payoff by a poultry dealer.

Senator Arras for many years was auditor and recorder for the state board of health. He resigned that position in 1939 after an announcement by the governor that all members of the legislators on pay rolls of state departments must either resign from the legislature or from their other state jobs.

The land area of the Virgin Islands is 133 square miles.

MARSHALL PLAN SUCCESS SEEN

Washington Officials Believe It Will Withstand Russian Opposition

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov may accept or reject Secretary of State Marshall's European recovery proposal at Paris this week-end, but officials believe he cannot wreck it.

American officials who helped shape the project and plan its future development are not too optimistic now about real Russian cooperation.

But in their view Marshall's proposal is so flexible it can be made to work with or without Russia. It can produce a unified Europe or a western bloc. It may serve as a bridge for American-Soviet cooperation or an American weapon against Russia.

As it now stands only the governments of Britain and France and the Congress of the United States have—in a practical sense—the power to veto the whole Marshall proposition.

Its initial requirement is that the nation's of Europe draw up a joint economic program to make maximum use of their own resources, which Marshall and his advisors now feel are not being adequately developed.

The second requirement of the Marshall proposition is that Congress authorize large scale financial assistance to Europe to support the recovery program once it is worked out and assuming it is acceptable here. Even Marshall's most enthusiastic supporters admit this is a critical point.

Two days ago the national advisory council on foreign financing told President Truman, and he told Congress, that the United States has already committed $15,000,000,000 abroad and that there is little more left to commit.

Some state department economic officials estimate Europe's needs for recovery over a four-year period at $6,000,000,000 a year. Others figure closer to $5,000,000,000 a year for three years.

At any rate, after Europe does its joint planning—on either a continental or western bloc basis—Mr. Truman and Marshall are now committed to go to Congress and ask for another outlay of billions.

This might be done in a special session next fall. Otherwise the new foreign financial program presumably will be the great opening issue for Congress in 1948.

DELAY IN FLIGHT UPSETS PROGRAM

HONOLULU, June 28.—(AP)—Delay of the Pan-American Airways around the world plane today upset an elaborate entertainment program which had been arranged in Honolulu for the passengers, a group of newspaper executives and municipal officials.

The plane originally was scheduled to arrive early today but trouble with an air conditioning unit after leaving Guam caused the arrival time to be set back to midafternoon and cancelled out a projected sight-seeing tour and chamber of commerce luncheon.

Card Farmhand Piles Up Enviable Record But Seldom Finishes Game

Alex Patterson Gives Up Plenty Hits And Still Wins For Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., June 28.—(NEA).—It would be difficult to find another pitcher in organized baseball with a record that can approach Alex Patterson's for its unusualness and pecularities.

Patters n is the American Association's leading hurler with a record of eight victories and no defeats—but you can stop right there as far as its brilliance is concerned.

It seems all Pat has to do is take the mound and it's a signal for both his Columbus Red Bird mates and the opposition to go on batting sprees. As a result, Alex has traeled the full distance only once this season.

Rival teams greet Patterson like a long lost cousin except when there are runners on the base paths. Then, it's a different story. He's given up

FROM WEST MONROE

Alex Patterson, the Cardinal hopeful with Columbus of the American Association, is from West Monroe where he had made his home the past two years with a brother, A. G. Patterson, Arkansas road. He came to West Monroe with his brother from Farmerville where the major league prospect is well known.

83 hits, 38 runs, 31 walks and fanned only 12 in the 61 2-3 innings he's worked to date. However, he has left 66 runners stranded, indicating he's quite a man when the blue chips are down.

When Patterson is on the hill, his Red Birds cooperate with him fully, having furnished him with a total of 69 runs. It is little wonder Alex has such a good won-lost record in spite of the fact that the Columbus club has been flirting with the basement.

Possibly his peculiar record is at least partially explained by the fact that his main stock in trade is not a curve or a sizzling fast ball but a sinker, which he mixes expertly with a slider and knuckle ball.

A batter has a tendency to hit a sinker on the ground, often resulting in non-advancing outs and sometimes in two-ply killings.

Charlie Root, the old Chicago Cub pitcher who couldn't get Columbus out of last place in '45 and '46, took a particular liking to Patterson. As Charlie explains it:

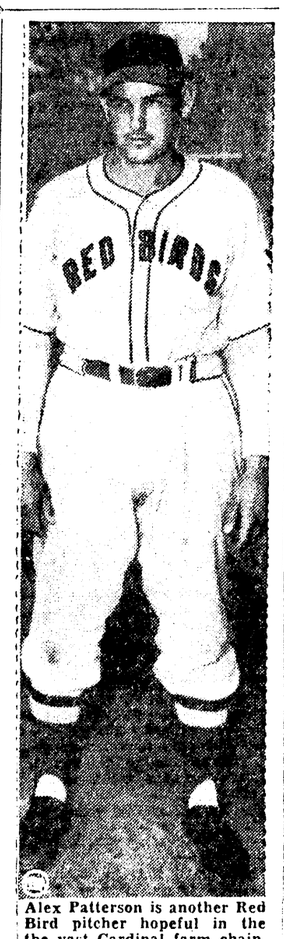
"You don't have to tell him twice about a mistake he's making. He remembers the advice—and he doesn't make the mistake again. The boy is bound to be heard from in the big leagues in a year or two."

Charley recalls:

"One of the first things I taught him was to keep the ball low. Then they can't hit you hard. Above all, keep it down around their knees when you're in trouble. Not any batters can tee off on that kind of a pitch."

When Patterson reported to Root at the Columbus spring training camp at Biloxi, Miss., in March, 1946, the young man was not only an unknown but he was also beginning his professional baseball career. Pat didn't remain long with the Birds, being farmed out to St. Joseph, Mo., of the Western Association, a Class C circuit, regarded as high for a pitcher without previous experience. He went on to win 15 and lose eight for St. Joe, seven of his triumphs coming in a row, and thus earn the promotion to the Columbus Triple A club.

It wouldn't be too surprising to see him wearing the spangles of the St. Louis Cardinals in the next year or so.



Alex Patterson is another Red Bird pitcher hopeful in the vast Cardinal farm chain.

WITH PLEASURE COPS EQUIPOISE

Favored Armed Loses By Neck To Fast-Running Oscar Breault Colt

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—With Pleasure, a four-year-old colt owned by Oscar Breault, Chicago, came within three-fifths of a second of equalling the world's record in defeating Calumet Farm's great Handicap star, Armed, in the $33,950 Equipoise Mile at Arlington Park today.

With Pleasure, which defeated Armed in the $25,000 Added Domino Handicap at six furlongs last Saturday, again withstood Armed's great stretch driving finish to win by a neck. Mighty Story was third, and Jack S. L. fourth in a field of nine.

The tingling finish brought shouts from a sweltering crowd of 25,000, who sent Armed, 1946 Handicap champion to the post at odds of 1 to 5. With Pleasure was quoted at 7 to 1.

With Pleasure, ridden by Willie Garner, rewarded his backers with $17.40, $3.00 and $2.60, while Armed paid $2.20 and $2.20. Mighty Story paid $3.

Carrying 116 pounds to Armed's 130, With Pleasure scorched the mile in 1:35 flat. It was the fastest mile run at Arlington since Jamestown went the distance in 1:34 4-5 in 1932. That was the same year in which Equipoise set the world record of 1:34 2-5.

The Victory, worth $23,150, was the third success in as many 1947 starts for With Pleasure, a 4-year-old son of He Did-Seldina. With Garner up on the colt today, it marked the third time a different boy has ridden With Pleasure this season.

HATTIESBURG BOY WHIFFS 20 BATTERS IN ONE GAME

HATTIESBURG, Miss., June 28.—(AP)—Although a slow roller down the third base line in the seventh inning robbed him of a no-hitter, Left-hander Pat Harrington of the Hattiesburg American Legion Junior baseball team today had given other Legion Junior pitchers of the state a mark to shoot at.

Pat struck out 20 men and walked none Friday in beating the Prentiss Juniors 18-0 at Prentiss. Only two Prentiss men reached base, one on the scratch hit and the other on an error. It was the first state playoff game for both teams.

The camp will be conducted by Burleigh Grimes, Wattie Holm and Atley Donald. The tryouts will be held at the Ave. B., baseball park.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 28.—(AP)—Twenty five players from California, Louisiana, Texas, Colorado, Idaho and Utah notched opening round victories in the men's singles division of the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament today.

The meet, transplanted from its usual site at Chicago, got under way for a nine-day run at the Salt Lake Tennis Club's Forest Dale courts.

Defending Champion Frank Parker of Los Angeles and most of the other seeded players will play their first matches Monday.

Dick Mouldous, from Tulane University, ran into plenty of opposition in the first set before subduing LaMar Guiver of Salt Lake City, 9-7, 6-1.

PATTY HANDS UPSET ON JOHN BROMWICH

LONDON, June 28.—(AP)—Budge Patty, 25-year-old ex-G. I. from Los Angeles, assumed the role of giant killer at the Wimbledon tennis championships today when he blasted Australia's second-seeded veteran, John Bromwich, out of the singles division, 6-4,0-6,6-4,1-6,6-4.

Patty's startling upset, which carried him into the quarter-finals along with a trio of fellow Californians—Jack Kramer, Bob Faulkenburg and Tom Brown—left Australia with only two places in the round of eight and presented the distinct possibility of an All-American final.

Unseeded in the tournament and unranked in his own country, the lanky Patty pulled off his surprise on Wimbledon's famed center court before an approximate throng of 15,000 which included Prime Minister Clement Attlee and American Ambassador Lewis Douglas.

Kramer, the top-seeded American champion, advanced with a straight-set triumph over Torsten Johansson, Swedish Cup star, 7-5, 6-2, 6-3, while Faulkenburg eliminated Hans Redl, the one-armed Austrian, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

LONGSHORE FACES DUNKLIN IN FINALS

Alabama And Arkansas Stars Play For Southwest Net Title Today

LITTLE ROCK, June 28.—(AP)—Seeded No. 1 Leslie Longshore of Anniston, Ala., and Arkansas State champion George Dunklin of Pine Bluff won in the semi-finals of the Southwest Open Tennis Tournament's men's singles here today and will meet in the finals tomorrow.

Longshore eliminated Gerald Perry, of Springfield, Mo., seeded No. 4, 6-3, 6-1.

Dunklin won an uphill battle from Harcourt Waters of New Orleans, 2-6, 8-6 and 8-6. Losing the first set, Dunklin came from behind in both the second and third after trailing 5-2 in the former and 5-3 in the latter. Waters was seeded No. 2, and the Arkansas champion, No. 3.

Longshore and Waters will oppose Brownie Baker of Houston, Tex., and Frank McCarter of Shreveport in finals of the men's doubles tomorrow.

In today's semi-finals Longshore and Waters defeated Alex Wellford and Dr. Wilford Graff, both of Memphis, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2; Baker and McCarter eliminated Jimmy Bell and Jay Freeman of Little Rock, 6-2, 6-3.

Junior singles play left John Bell Keeble of Nashville, Tenn., and Walker Harris of New Orleans as finalists. Keeble beat Ted Fox of Memphis, 6-2, 6-2; Harris won over Steve Potts of Memphis, 6-4, 7-5.

Keeble and Harry Corson of Nashville and Potts and Harris will constitute the opposing teams in the Junior doubles. Keeble and Corson defeated Peter Pizzo of New Orleans and Fox, 6-4, 6-3 in one semi-final. Potts and Harris eliminated Don Tate and Don Merritt of Memphis, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4 in the other.

SEATING CAPACITY FOR BROWN FIELD WILL BE BOOSTED

The seating capacity of Brown Field, home stamping grounds of the Northeast Junior College Indians here, will be increased by 1,150 with the addition of new bleacher seats on the east side of the stadium, it was announced yesterday by James L. Malone, N. J. C. athletic director and head coach, who said contract for the bleachers had been let and that they would be installed in time for the opening of the fall football campaign.

With the addition of the east side stands, all seats in the west side stadium will be designated as reserved seats, and the west side seats will go to general admission ticket holders at this year's football games.

The new additions will increase the seating capacity at Brown Field to approximately 5,000.

Reserved seats for this season's N. J. C. football games will go on official sale the middle of July, Coach Malone said, but it was pointed out that many requests for reserved seats have already been honored. The sale of box seats has also been going strong without advanced publicity, and college officials last night said only 17 box seats remained to be sold.

The gridiron at Brown Field has also been completely reworked to make the field one of the bests in this section of the country. The ground was recently plowed, fertilized, re-turtle-backed, and resodded to give it a complete re-finish to insure good turf and sure-footing.

WEAK LEGS SEND JET PILOT INTO RETIREMENT

STANTON, Del., June 28.—(AP)—Jet Pilot, winner of this year's Kentucky Derby, has been permanently retired from racing, Trainer Tom Smith announced today at Delaware Park.

Smith, at Delaware Park to saddle Royal Blood in the Dover Stakes, said the chestnut son of Blenheim 2nd from Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Maine Chance Farm had such weak legs that he could not stand the rigors of hard training. The colt will enter the stud next spring.

Jet Pilot cost Mrs. Graham $41,000 as a yearling and earned $198,740. $92,160 of it in the Derby. He made 17 starts, won seven, was second three times and third twice.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Nat Fleischer

(The writer, Editor and Publisher of Ring Magazine, is guest columnist today for Harry Grayson, who is on vacation.)

NEW YORK, June 28.—(NEA)—Eighteen years ago, on January 6, 1929, the world was shocked by the death of Tex Rickard.

The ace promoter and showman, whose name was known in every nook and corner of the world where boxing is followed, died suddenly from an appendicitis operation in Miami. When he died the boxing world mourned for him. When he was buried, thousands flocked to Woodlawn Cemetery in New York City to pay their respects.

Today, almost two decades after his death, visiting the unmarked plot where he lies, one would scarcely believe that beneath that mound rests the body of the once great boxing promoter, the man who introduced the million dollar gates to pugilism and sports in general.

Yes, gone and forgotten! The world quickly forgets.

His grave neglected, his name scarcely mentioned by those who were his staunchest friends when Old Tedge was in his heyday, the man who brought boxing up from the mire into the gigantic commercial business it is today, has given way to a new king of fisticuffs—Mike Jacobs.

Mike played quite a part in getting Tex into the big money, and today his organization carries on without the master's help and guidance, with the same efficiency as when Mike, prior to his illness that has incapacitated him for active duty, was at the helm.

Sports writers were wont to refer to Rickard as the great showman, the Napoleon of promoters, a fitting sobriquet in all senses save one. The great military genius whose glory faded at Waterloo, ended his days at St. Helena, an axile enshrouded in the shadow of defeat. Tex passed away in the golden prime of a career that seemed to promise fresh triumphs in his chosen field of endeavor.

A lot of water has rolled under the pugilistic bridge since the first promoter of million dollar gtes died. The decade that followed that melancholy event was to witness a long period of tough times for boxing. Later it emerged once again into the sunshine of prosperity and the return of the million dollar gate that first owed its birth to the acute brain and showmanship of the man from Texas.

Would Rickard have weathered successfully the financial storm of the depression era had he lived to continue his promotional activities? Or, did he pass into Valhall at the proper psychological time for the future preservation of his fame as a leader in the development of the leather-pushing industry? Your guess is as good as mine, but based on the tremendous success that Mike Jacobs, his successor as a world renowned promoter, has made of pugilistic shows, my answer would be in the affirmative.

It requires only one colorful heavyweight to make a promoter the outstanding world figure that Tex Rickard was and Mike Jacobs is—a Jack Dempsey or a Joe Louis. The Manassa Mauler was responsible for the success of the erstwhile Texan marshall and Alaska gambler. The Brown Bomber enabled Uncle Mike to reach the heights. Without them, neither Tex nor Mike would have been able to achieve fame and distinction as promoters.

Eighteen years ago, a movement was started by the Sports Writers of New York to place a headstone over the grave of Rickard, but because of some difficulties, the plan never materialized. Today, another such movement is on foot. The New York Managers' Guild, having learned of the neglect of Tex's grave, has appointed a committee to visit Mrs. Rickard and her daughter. With their aid, the managers hope to overcome the obstacles placed in the path of the boxing writers committee and provide for the erection of a tomb stone over the remains of the great promoter.

STYMIE BECOMES NO. TWO HORSE AS MONEY WINNER WITH QUESTIONNAIRE WIN

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs Stymie won the Questionnaire Handicap at Jamaica today and became the turf's second greatest money winner of all time with $574,660 for his five years of racing.

Making his usual rush from last place, the six-year old Texas bred finished an easy-going three lengths in front of Joe W. Brown's Brown Mogul from New Orleans. Barney Murphy's Concordian was third, another three lengths farther back and a nose in front of Laddie Samford's Round View.

Lumberjacks Bid For 3rd Place; Other League Games At Olla, Oak Grove

The Clarks Lumberjacks, fourth place fixtures in the North Louisiana League race most of the season, will be offered an opportunity to gain a tie for third place when they meet the Winnsboro Red Sox in the Louisiana Central Lumber Company Park at Clarks this afternoon.

The charges of Co-Managers Lantz Womack and John Nicosia have been in-and-out around first, second, and third place all season, and right now are in third by just one game over Clarks.

Manager E. M. Steely last night announced Tom Perry, the former Cotton States chunker who beat Winnsboro on one hit in their first meeting this season, and then in a relief role pitched the last four innings to save another Clarks win over the Sox, would be the choice to start against Winnsboro today. The Sox are expected to use Ray Hoffman or Buck Hollis.

Other league games today find the LaSalle Oilers of Jena invading Oak Grove, and Columbia going to Olla.

EVANGELINE ALL-STARS WILL TANGLE ON JULY 9

BATON ROUGE, La., June 28.—(AP)—The Evangeline League today made plans for an All-Star game July 9 at Alexandria or New Iberia as the league team.

The resolution adopted at a league meeting here calls for the team leading the league through the games of June 30 to be host to the All-Stars, which mathematically restricts the choice to these two teams.

Alexandria currently leads by half a game and each has three games to play. If the June 30 games leave the two tied the choice will be made as soon as possible thereafter between Alexandria and New Iberia on the basis of subsequent games.

The All-Star team, limited to 15 including a player-manager, will be chosen by the league's official scorers and sports writers and broadcasters regularly covering the league. It will be announced in Baton Rouge Monday night.

Every club except the host will be represented on the All-Star team and all players will receive an award.

MINIATURE AUTO RACERS TO MEET ON LOCAL TRACK

Southern Regional Event Scheduled On Lakeside Oval Next Sunday

Monroe's miniature autmobile racers today will begin making final arrangements for the holding of the southern regional miniature speedway classic here next Sunday at the Monroe club's concrete oval at Lakeside Country Club.

Miniature racers from throughout the south are expected here for the regional event, one of four being conducted throughout the nation next Sunday. The regionals serve as qualifying events for the National Miniature Speedway classic to be held August 14, 15, 16, and 17 along with the national convention of the American Miniature Race Car Association at Indianapolis, Ind.

Contestants are expected to begin arriving here Friday, and the Lakeside Country Club is due to be a scene of busy little auto speeders Friday and Saturday as they put their machines through tune-up events preliminary to Sunday's big show.

"Fran" Brennan, regional director and a leader of the Monroe organization, last night said members of the Louisiana Miniature Race Car Club at Monroe would turnout today for trial runs and also to get their track in tip-top shape for the big event.

Glen Matthews, Rockford, Ill., president of the national organization, also plans to be in Monroe for the regional run, having already made reservations here, Brennan said, and many other well known southern racers are also making hotel reservations, indicating a large delegation of visiting car owners will be here.

The races are open to the public free, and next Sunday's big show will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue through the day with events for proto type and spur-gear cars to be clocked at their best quarter-mile speeds.

Last Sunday the Monroe racers gave away a miniature car to one of the fans witnessing their regular practice runs. The machine went to Furlow H. "Slim" Curry, 117½ North Grand street.

NEW IBERIA WINS

THIBODAUX, La., June 28.—(AP)—Charlie Fiest delivered with four-hit pitching tonight and New Iberia handed the Thibodaux Giants their second straight defeat 5-1.

Gayle, with two for two, one of them a double, was high batman of the night. But Sopko, with two for five, came through with a homer. For Thibodaux, Jameson, with two for four, had a triple to his credit.

There were three double plays—D. Dunnack to Kaczowka; Ploger to Theard to Gatlin; and Dean to Theole to Kaczowka.

Three fast Hammond double plays kept Gaisser out of serious trouble. Twin killings retired the Giants in the third and fourth frames after the bases had been loaded with walks.

FELLER QUIETS TALK ABOUT 'FAILING ARM'

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 28.—(AP)—Crepe hangers can remove the black ribbon from Bobby Feller's pitching arm. The holder of the major league all-time strikeout record looks like a lively corpse.

The first hurler to win 10 games in the American League. Rapid Robert appears to have regained his true form just at the right time with the All-Star game less than two weeks distant.

There have been reports that the major league moguls may consider banning long post-season barnstorming tours like Feller's 1946 junket. That is rumored to be on the agenda for consideration when Commissioner A. B. Chandler and the two major leagues meet in joint session at Chicago early in July.

Feller seems to have started a counter-offensive all by himself. By winning five of his last six starts, Bobby has stilled some of the criticism of his long exhibition trip. As he has another in mind for this fall, if Cleveland doesn't win the pennant, the subject is of considerable financial importance in the Feller household.

Bobby skipped a turn in New York because of a knee injury sustained when he slipped on the pitching mound at Shibe Park but he had plenty of stuff in Friday night's six-hit, 9-3 victory over Chicago. As the White Sox were the only American League team he hadn't beaten, he now holds one decision over all seven opposition clubs.

Just to make the win a certainty, Feller drove in three runs with a double in the Tribe's five-run second inning. He struck out three, raising his season total to 101, tops in both majors, singled in the eighth and scored the Indians' final run on Les Fleming's single.

CLEVELAND, June 28.—(AP)—Two-run homer by Hank Edwards in the third inning today carried the Cleveland Indians to their third straight victory over the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2.

Edwards also accounted for the Tribe's other run, his long foul fly in the first scoring George Metkovich, who had tripled.

COTTON STATES LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

All six teams in the Cotton States loop, currently dominatad by Greenville, have something in common today after Friday night's series of double headers. Each twin bill was split.

The league leading Bucks shutout Clarksdale, 10 to 0, in the first game, picking up 11 hits off three Planter pitchers. Dick Lane again starred at the plate by driving in three runs and rapping out a homer.

But in the finale, third-place Clarksdale jumped on the Bucks and scored a 5 to 2 victory.

El Dorado tapped Helena, 7 to 5, in the opener with Bill McClean knocking a four-bagger, and then hitting another home run as the Oilers lost the nightcap, 8 to 3.

The second-position Greenwood Dodgers sank Hot Springs, 6 to 3, in the No. 1 battle, and like all the other first game winners, fell 10 to 6, before the Bathers in the second contest.

ATTENDANCE UP

DALLAS, Tex., June 28.—(AP)—A tight race in the Texas League has boosted attendance more than 100,000 over the same period last year, Milton Price, league secretary, said today. Attendance for the first half of the season this year was 913,695, Price said, compared to 807,276 in 1946.

31-Day Coal Supply Left As Miners Take Vacation

Government Scheduled To Return Seized Mines Tuesday; No Agreement Made For New Work Contract

(By Associated Press)

With an estimated 31-day national coal supply on hand, the nation's nearly half-million soft and hard coal miners began a momentous vacation yesterday (Saturday.)

The vacations were officially listed for only 10 days, but these factors clouded the coal production outlook:

1. The government is scheduled to return the seized mines to the owners July 1 but John L. Lewis has reached no agreement with the operators and his miners traditionally refuse to work without a contract.

2. Reports spread among the coal industry and mine union officials that the United States Steel Company and the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company have recommended meeting Lewis' demands in full.

3. Aides of Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach reported he would try to bring Lewis and the operators together for negotiations Tuesday—the day after federal controls of the mines is ended.

4. A United Mine Workers union spokesman said in Washington that wages and hours alone wouldn't settle the miners' demands, that "there are many other issues including some questions raised by the new Taft-Hartley act."

As the miners started their vacations, thousands of workers in coal-dependent industries already had been laid off. Employers blamed the situation on wildcat coal strikes earlier in the week.

A federal transportation official predicted railroad passenger traffic would be curtailed by government order if the miners do not go back on July 8.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., top producer of U. S. Steel, furloughed 10,000 workers in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown, O., district. District operations of the firm will be reduced 59 percent from a theoretical 104 percent capacity to about 45 percent.

Other steel concerns cut back operations and coal-carrying railroads started feeling the shortage. Among affected steel firms are Republic Steel, Sharon Steel, Wheeling Steel and others. The Norfolk & Western and the Virginian railways laid off 975 workers because of the mine shutdowns.

Both industry and union officials evaded direct comment on the reported U. S. Steel Corp. recommendation. The reported proposal was $13.05 for an eight-hour day, including portal-to-portal time, instead of the present $11.85 for nine hours.

Lewis' demands include a 10-cent welfare fund levy on each ton of coal mined, instead of the present five cents; six paid holidays and additional overtime.

Persons close to the soft coal negotiations said Benjamin Fairless, U. S. Steel president, and George M. Humphrey, chairman of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, conferred privately with Lewis Friday and later made their recommendation to other industry representatives.

Other developments on the labor scene:

C. I. O. leaders adopted the same strategy as officials of the American Federation of Labor in opposing the Taft-Hartley Act. Both groups vetoed suggestions for a general protest strike in favor of attacking the law's constitutionality in law suits and in opposing supporters of the bill when they come up for reelection.

C. I. O. President Philip Murray invited leaders of the A. F. L. and the railroad brotherhoods to attend a war council on the act.

Leaders of 40,000 striking C. I. O. shipyards workers in 10 Eastern yards reiterated predictions that the work stoppage would spread to 120,000 workers in East and Gulf yards Tuesday, unless a settlement is reached on union demands for a 13 cents hourly wage hike and other benefits.

Ratification of a contract granting wage increases of seven to 17 cents an hour ended a five day old strike of 425 C. I. O. livestock handlers at the Omaha stockyards.

AIR SAFETY

figuring in wind velocity and direction, slope and length of runway, and temperature. The last is important because a longer ground run is required in the thinner air of a hot day.

Landis told a news conference the system will provide additional "cushions" of air safety.

Today's report by Mr. Truman's special board, released at the white house, dealt chiefly to take-off problems and was called "only a beginning" of the broad study he asked. Mr. Truman appointed the board June 15 after three crashes of DC-4 planes which killed 147 persons.

The latest of these was the crash near Leesburg, Va., June 13 in which 50 were killed on a mountainside. CAB hearings into this will begin Wednesday at Leesburg.

Landis said the tightened take-off formula undoubtedly will reduce the payload on some flights and consequently affect airline revenue to some extent. But he said the gains are worth the cost.

The chairman said it would not necessarily mean that passengers would have to be taken off where the runway was not long enough to permit loading beyond the prescribed point. He explained that on a flight from Dallas to New York, for example, if the load at takeoff was too great some of the gasoline could be drawn out and then replenished at a stop in Nashville.

The board reported to Mr. Truman that it had considered closing all less-than-4,000-feet runways to four-engined planes but rejected this as possibly introducing 'new hazards into aircraft operations."

Today's recommendations are interim, in that the special board asked an immediate study by government agencies, industry groups and pilots "to assure by computation and flight tests the adequacy" of the formula for safety margins at take-off.

"The special board is not satisfied that adequate margins are presently provided," the report said.

Landis stressed the importance of making careful computation of the data used in the formula. He said the La Guardia plane, which used a 3,530-foot runway, needed a 4,200-foot runway even under the existing formula as shown by computations after the crash. He added that he is "not intimating that the overweight caused the accident."

Landis announced as "rather important" that "we have asked the Douglas people to redesign the gust-lock on DC-4's". This is an instrument which locks flying controls on the ground and if not released does not let a plane get off the ground.

He said the redesigning efforts are pointed toward getting a gust-lock which: 1. Would release automatically without question, 2. Would latch firmly when down so that it could not accidentally lock again, and 3. Sound a horn in the cockpit when locked wrongly so that the pilot could stop on the ground in short order.

The board also recommended installation of lighted wind socks at both ends of a runway to supplement wind data given a pilot by a tower which might be some distance away.

It recommended tentatively that on runways of less than 4,000 feet, no wind component should be used in the formula to permit an increase in allowable load. (Wind blowing toward a plane helps it take off.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Here are main recommendations, accepted by the civil aeronautics board, of the first report of President Truman's special air safety board:

1. Even a slight slope in the runway should be included in figuring a safe load for take-off.

2. Government, industry and pilots should test by computation and flying the adequacy of safety margins for take-off.

3. Actual runway lengths should be shortened on paper by 300 feet in calculating weight limitations, to give the pilot more time after starting to decide whether to go ahead with his take-off or stop.

4. Permissible weight should be reduced by a fixed formula when the temperature is high, increased accordingly when it is low. (Hot air is thin.)

5. On runways shorter than 4,000 feet, no helpful wind factor should be allowable to permit increasing allowable weights.

6. A study should be made of how to get more wind information to the taking-off pilot. In the meantime there should be lighted wind socks at each end of the runway.

7. Immediate measures should be taken to "further indoctrinate transport aircraft pilots in the use of the formula . . . for computing allowable take-off weights."

ARMY'S TUCKER MARRIES 'CHILDHOOD SWEETHEART'

MIAMI, Fla., June 28.—(AP)—Army's star quarterback, Lt. Arnold Tucker, and his "childhood sweetheart" bride, the former Patricia Small, were en route to New Orleans on their honeymoon today after their military wedding here last night.

Tucker, who called signals for Army's famous "Doc" Blanchard and Glenn Davis back field team, was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point this spring.

He and his bride will make their home in San Antonio, Texas, where Tucker is assigned to the army air force base at Randolph Field.

STEELMAKERS

and gave the U. S. navy the job of running the pits.

Miners now are on vacation because the government's contracts with the unionists provided the paid holiday. The current coal shortage was made more acute because about 75,000 UMW members "jumped the gun" a week ahead of the holiday in wildcat work stoppages aimed at the Taft-Hartley labor law. A substantial proportion of the walkouts occurred in steel-company-owned mines, called "captive" pits because the entire production is used in steelmaking.

Carnegie-Illinois' deep production slashes will bank 10 additional blast furnaces, raising the total banked to the equivalent of 14 1-2 of the 28 the concern operates in the affected area. Additionally, the firm will reduce its open hearth operations from 130 to 50 units, a cutback of eighty.

Coke production at the Hugh Clairton, Pa., Coke Works will be reduced to 38 percent in this largest plant of its kind in the world.

Republic Steel, Sharon Steel and Wheeling Steel were other firms which announced cutbacks. Wheeling Steel's curtailment will idle about 6,000 workers by July 7.

A federal transportation official said that railroad passenger traffic would be curtailed if the coal miners prolong their work stoppage past July 7.

The Norfolk & Western and the Virginian railways announced in Roanoke, Va., that 375 workers were furloughed because of the shutdown of mines in the area it serves. At Nashville, Tenn., officials of the Southern and Louisville & Nashville railroads predicted "progressive layoffs" in the Knoxville division because of the mine stoppage.

DUTCH

contents of the American note soon after an Indonesian national army spokesman broadcast what he said was an intercepted order from Lt. Gen. Siem Spoor to his Netherlands forces to attack "on all fronts" at the zero hour of 6 a.m. Monday.

Although Spoor and H. J. Van Mook, Dutch governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, denied such an order, there was convincing evidence that Monday actually had been designated the "DA-Day" in Java. The Indonesian army spokesman said instructions had been issued to nationalist troops to counterattack without further word the moment the Dutch opened any offensive.

U. S. Consul General Walter A. Foote said he delivered a note to Dr. Soewandi, Republican Minister of Education and ranking officer of the Indonesian government in Batavia, with a copy to Van Mook.

Sending a copy to Van Mook was regarded as having the certain effect of calling off any military operations.

In the Republican capital of Jogjakarta the note spurred President Soerkarno to join with the leftwing majority parties in their plea to Sutan Sjahrir to reaccept the premiership from which he was ousted only two days ago.

Sjahrir declared in Jogjakarta that he would return to office only if he is granted full power to make binding decisions in any further negotiations with the Dutch without the necessity of approval by the Jogjakarta government. He asked also for formal withdrawal of the left wing bloc's resolution which had condemned his past policies and forced his resignation.

He said he expected an answer on both points tomorrow.

Sjahrir said both London and Washington wanted quick establishment of the interim government and that the United States had emphasized it would recognize Dutch sovereignty until Jan. 1, 1949.

One of the issues which resulted in Sjahrir's overthrow was his agreement to go into an interim government and delay full Republican sovereignty until Jan. 1, 1949.

The U. S. note, first direct suggestion from Washington to the republic, cited that last year's Dutch-Indonesian agreement at Cheribon specified Dutch sovereignty until Jan. 1, 1949. It thus frowned on Indonesians who had been demanding immediate sovereignty.

MOLOTOV

ceived the latest official comments from the Kremlin, however.

After tonight's session, which broke up at 8 p. m., it was announced that the three ministers will meet again at 4 p. m. Monday. Various speculation said the ministers were taking the Sunday breather because of the Paris heat, because they wanted time to study what already had been said, or because they were digging in for a long conference.

The first shock of pessimism today was the report that Bevin and Bidault had held their own private meeting before joining Molotov. One informant said "the success of the conference is in doubt."

Then French officials bitterly criticized Bevin, saying it was he who had demanded a complete news blackout on the conference sessions. The French threatened to break the "velvet curtain" hiding the proceedings.

The real gloom developed over indications, however, that the first Soviet move here has been to throw the ball back to Washington with demands for a definite offer of so many billions for European aid before a definite program is formulated.

The French informant said he had sized up Russian strategy from his roundabout reports this way:

Bring the United States directly into the various technical committees which the French and British have proposed to be organized to formulate a program in different fields.

Bring up within these committees political differences which already have divided east and west over Germany and the Ruhr. Local Communist parties could then make progress in Europe's continuing misery while the Marshall plan languished.

The French informant gave this picture of the first meeting: Bidault and Bevin made statements on how Europe should take advantage of the Marshall offer through the special technical committees Molotov asked for details on the American suggestions for aiding Europe.

He wanted to know how much money the United States proposed to put up and what the terms would be. He indicated he wanted the program to be handled by the United Nations economic commission for Europe, which has 18 members, a number of them in the Soviet bloc. Molotov cited Bevin's conversations in London with William L. Clayton, U. S. under secretary of state for economic affairs, as his reason for asking such details.

Bevin gave some answers he said he thought it best to sidestep the U. N. economic commission because neither Germany nor Allied military governments in Germany belong to the commission.

Molotov, it was reported, then asked for time to consult the Kremlin.

The meeting today was scheduled for 4 p. m., but it was delayed an hour at Molotov's request, French sources said. Molotov then arrived 10 minutes late.

EISENHOWER

impressed. They will start voting on the bill next week.

Senator Gurney (R—SD), chairman of the subcommittee, said "some very necessary appropriations must be restored."

Senator Hayden (D—Ariz) said he agrees with the general that house reductions in both military and civilian personnel of the war department would "greatly weaken" the army because officers and men would have to be diverted to civilian jobs.

The superior military strength of the Soviet Union was mentioned by Eisenhower after he explained that as chief of staff he must judge the "capability of the United States to defend this country, should war occur."

"Relative to the armies of other world powers, I judge the United States army to be second only to that of the Soviet Union," he said. "However, it is a poor second.

"Our army is far flung and thinly deployed about the world. It is composed, in the main, of young, inexperienced volunteers. . .

"As a result of this weakness and sparseness of our forces, the United States army has a lessened influence toward deterring aggression. The interaction of world affairs takes place in the shadow of military power."

The General offered his summary of the potential military power of the United States for the next year and commented:

"I do not hesitate to tell you that I am dismayed at the picture. I would do less than my duty if I did not express my opinion that the reductions take us well into the danger zone."

Eisenhower said that 'most crippling" action by the house was cutting funds needed for 17,000 officers, 2,600 warrant officers and 74,000 civilians. He urged restoration of $106,250,000 for the officers and $104,275,000 for 42,000 civilian workers.

Here is a summary of Eisenhower's estimate of United States military strength:

Manpower—Minimums of 1,070,000 military personnel and 461,000 civilians with reductions made in both by the house.

Materials—Army short of "modern materials necessary for combat."

Modernization—"Definitely lagging."

Strategic deployment—Locations now are excellent but should be "strongly held."

Mobilization and reserves—Funds for national guard and reserve slashed and mobilization would be delayed.

Morale—Good now but "will sink" if "feeling develops that army is headed back down the old, dreary trail of parsimony."

PRICES

at 40 cents a dozen wholesale now bring 51 cents.

Retailers dealers in New York said the OPA ceiling on butter was 57 cents, but consumers paid 80 cents to $1.00 in the "black market." Today the price is 71 cents.

In other primary markets, family flour at Buffalo which had a ceiling of $5.73 a year ago is now $7.40, steel scrap at Pittsburgh had a ceiling of $20 and now sells for $32.50, turpentine at Savannah which had an 83 1/2 cents ceiling is selling for 59 1-2.

Average price of middling cotton at 10 southern markets a year ago, not controlled by the OPA, was 30.90 cents a pound. Today it is 37.47 cents.

In New York stores men's worsted suits which had a ceiling of $40 now sell for $45 to $47.50 and in Chicago, Meyer Krestnbaum, president of Hart, Schaffner and Marx, said prices would be higher this autumn.

Are conditions "better" or "worse" today than under the OPA?

Advocates of OPA argue that prices in legitimate markets have risen spectacularly, that only in certain items have then shown signs of declining, and that supply increases in these latter goods would have developed just as quickly under OPA.

Opponents of OPA argue that goods are more easily available, that the crooked and sinister "black market" has been eliminated and that the OPA was unenforceable in peace time because it lacked the backing of war time patriotism.

FURNITURE

prodigal quantities and which has been allowed to go to waste.

Unstinted credit must go to the Chamber of Commerce, to its new secretary, Herbert Bailey, Jr., for his enterprise in his new capacity here; the H. M. James, president of the Chamber who has been ever active on the job; and to the industrial committee to whom a lion's share of praise is attributeable especially to J. W. Keene, whose efforts to fulfill the financial requirements caused him to even sacrifice his own private business and who through his efforts and abounding enthusiasm helped toward success perhaps more than did the work of any single man concerned.

Mr. Keene was assisted by the following members of the chamber's industrial committee: A. Petrus, Clifford Strauss, Travis Oliver, Dave Silverstein, T. H. Scott, G. L. Holloway, Fred F. Millsaps, W. W. McCain, W. J. Sherrouse, W. J. Riley, M. S. Biedenharn, J. G. Hicks, Walter W. Kellogg, Sig Masur, A. K. Kilpatrick, and H. M. James. Members of the Junior Chamber, led by Marion Taylor, also rendered valuable assistance.

Negotiations with M. M. Selig of Leominister, Mass., were initiated back in October 1946. A survey prepared by the Chamber of Commerce entitled, "The Economic Feasibility of Furniture Manufacture in Monroe and West Monroe," interested Selig. After some extended correspondence, Selig made a special trip to Monroe late in 1946 and again in January, 1947, and in March, 1947.

In a March meeting, the industrial committee consented to raise $250,000 for the purchase of a site for the erection of a plant for the southern headquarters of the Selig Manufacturing Company of Leominister, Mass. The industrial committee, headed by J. W. Keene, undertook the job early in April and which was brought to a completion yesterday when papers were prepared and signed.

Keene had previously obtained pledges from merchants and professional men of Monroe and West Monroe that totalled an investment of approximately $200,000. This caused the resurrection of the project which had been for a time passed up as impossible of realizing, and in his efforts the bulk of the credit is today laid at the door of Mr. Keene.

Late in May the drive to secure funds bogged down. Then an energetic subcommittee went painstakingly through lists of business and professional men of the two towns and selecting at least one from each classification, called them to a special meeting. There each man received a list of firms and individuals in his class of business who had not subscribed and was asked to make all posible contacts. About 70 loyal men were impressed into served and to their efforts the campaign has now been crowned with success.

To date, checks have been received from 271 firms and Twin City individuals and even from a few outside the Twin Cities who have business interests here. All this seems to indicate the fact that the community as one man teamed up when a civic project was to be launched for the benefit of the community.

Thomas W. Davenport, prominent young attorney of the firm of Hudson, Potts, Bernstein and Davenport, has acted as legal counsel for the idustrial committee. F. F. Millsaps and Travis Oliver were selected as trustees for the committee and all money has been deposited in two local banks in their names in their capacity. Smith, Padgett and Stubbs, well known architects, have nearly completed plans for the construction and bids will be advertised for and it is expected that ground will be broken inside of 30 days for the plant.

All subscribers to this fund will receive first mortgage bonds of the Monroe Realty Corporation, a company formed to hold title to the property. These bonds will be secured by a first mortgage on the land and buildings and also by an assignment of the lease which will be executed by Mr. Selig in favor of the Monroe Realty Corporation. Bondholders will receive payment at the rate of five per cent per annum, with two per cent interest annually. Mr. Selig also reserves the right to repay this loan at a more rapid rate than five per cent per year and anticipates that it will be all paid in full in ten years time. Incidentally he has paid out his Massachusetts plant quite similarly in 11 years.

The plant will be housed in a building to be erected on Thomas street, south Monroe, on a 26-acre site lying immediately adjacent to the Missouri Pacific railroad. This tract is bounded on the north by Thomas street, on the east by Alabama street, and on the south by Polignac street. The original plant will occupy only approximately half of the 26 acres, leaving the balance open for expansion.

The local firm of architects is working full blast on the job of preparing plans and specifications and plans contemplate that construction and installation of machinery will be completed early in 1948 so that operation can be started.

Mr. Selig plans to manufacture here the same line of high quality boudoir chairs that are being produced in the Massachusetts factory, which from the outset has proved an outstanding success. Later he may introduce other lines which may include varied types of chairs.

Local furniture dealers admit that his is one of the finest lines on the market today and the plant will, it is assured, add prestige to Monroe as a manufacturing center.

The investment of Mr. Selig in machinery and plant equipment will run to the approximate sum of $240,000, all of which he agrees to place here free of all incumbrance, and added to this will be an investment of approximately $300,000 in working capital.

The Chamber of Commerce's industrial committee is particularly well pleased that the Selig Manufacturing company is to locate here. At the very outset, Monroe bankers went into a most exhaustive scrutiny of Mr. Selig as to his ability, integrity and financial status. From every source only the highest praise of him along these lines was discovered. A most searching investigation possible disclosed that he is the sort of business man and captain of industry that Monroe and West Monroe needs at a time like the present.

A plant like this alone will support a city of 2,000 people, according to a survey made by the "Manufacturer's Record," and its addition to local industrial institutions will point the way and lead, it is confidently believed, to the location of other similar concerns.

A word also is in line in connection with the securing of this factory concerning the past achievements of the dynamic new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Herbert Bailey, Jr., who, when he served Rogers, Ark., in similar capacity, secured for that town, Munsingware, Inc., which manufacturers nylon hose. This concern erected a plant that cost $186,000 and whose total investment was close to a million dollars. Also he was instrumental in securing for Rogers a concrete supply company, stave mill and poultry plant. The stave mill purchases rough timber supplies that aggregate $2,000 daily, thereby finding market for wood supplies that up to that time were going to waste. The vast poultry establishment erected a $100,000 building and has become a leader in this line for northwest Arkansas. He is most hopeful of doing really big things along industrial lines for the Twin Cities.

Mr. Keene stated when interviewed that he has unlimited hopes for the success of the new company. In conversation with Mr. Selig he was informed that inside of three years, the plant is quite likely to be doubled in size, and that even it is quite within the bounds of possibility that the Massachusetts plant may be moved to Monroe, making this city the headquarters for a large furniture industry. All members of the industrial committee voiced their praise and appreciation of the tireless energy of Mr. Keene in his relentless efforts to locate the new industry here.

President F. F. Millsaps, of the Ouachita National Bank, member of the industrial committee, stated Saturday that he is highly pleased with the successful outcome of negotiations for the securing of a large furniture plant for Monroe.

"We need industries and I think this one should be calculated to start the ball rolling. I hope to see many more similar industries locate here. The Chamber of Commerce is evidently starting out toward accomplishment of substantial results."

President Travis Oliver, of the Central Savings Bank and Trust company, could not be interviewed as he was out of the city for the week-end.

force in Manchuria now had been "destroyed."

Lieut. Gen. Yu Ching-Chung, spokesman for Gen. Tu Li-Ming, government commandant for all Manchuria, said at least three of six Communist divisions which assaulted Szepingkai had been "crippled" and that Communist losses had been "unprecedented in Manchurian warfare."

The Communist radio broadcast a more modest assertion that 16,000 government soldiers had been killed or captured at Szepingkai in 12 days up to Thursday.

These unsupported estimates by both sides should be considered with reserve, however.

In an interview, General Yu emphatically denied recurrent rumors that the government intended to evacuate Manchuria.

Yu conceded that the government had adopted the policy of shortening lines in order to strengthen offensive power, and mentioned withdrawal from Antung as an example.

Yu also said that the Manchurian situation was bound to become increasingly serious, even though changing from day to day.

Conviction of treason may carry the death penalty or as little as five years and a $10,000 fine. The penalty is at the presiding judge's discretion.

Judge Ford complimented the jurors on the "rapt attention" they had paid the evidence in Chandler's trial for "this most odious of crimes," and assured them his order requiring them to be locked up for the duration of the 18-day trial was "no reflection on your integrity at all."

He said he felt it was the "proper way" to try the case "to sequester the jury in order that your entire attention could be centered on the case."

"I don't want you to think at any time that I doubted your integrity," he added.

After the verdict had been announced and Chandler sat again, leaning back in his chair with arms folded, he looked across the courtroom at his two daughters sitting tense at his right hand. One of them looked up and gave him a half-smile, and Chandler turned back to face the court again.

least 600 residents were driven from their homes in both northern and southern parts of the city.

Trains north and west of St. Louis on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Gulf, Mobile and Ohio and Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroads were either cancelled or re-routed and passengers on the St. Lou's-San Francisco railway between here and Memphis were taken by bus to Cape Girardeau, Mo., 150 miles south, when water inundated tracks.

At Chester, Ill., south of here, main tracks of the Missouri Pacific were under water and the flood has inundated part of the yard at the Illinois state penitentiary at Menard.

The last bridge open to traffic across the Missouri river between Kansas City and St. Louis—at Hermann, Mo.,—was closed when flood water broke through the sandbag barricade.

Of 280 levees on the Missouri between Rulo, Neb., and the river's mouth, only 43 remained and many of these were expected to be overtopped or broken by the river's pressure. The force of the Missouri in the St. Charles area was expected to be reduced by the breaks upstream.

The crest of the Missouri was at Jefferson City today and was expected to reach the mouth of that river sometime Monday—shortly after the Mississippi crest from Grafton, Ill., passed.

A new crest—the fifth of the Missouri this month—was expected to reach St. Joseph Tuesday or Wednesday and at Ottumwa, Ia., the Des Moines river was flooding for the fourth time. Neither rise was expected to increase greatly the damage already caused.

Tributaries of the Missouri were falling in the northern part of the state, but the main river was expected to stay out of its banks for another ten days.

the Arabs who made clear they were observing the boycott imposed by the Palestine Arab executive.

Mayor Khalik Saleh of the All-Christian Arab town of Ramallah and Mayor Soluman Tukan of the Moslem Arab town of Nablus received the commission privately in their offices and presented statistics concerning their communities. At the town of Tulkarm, however, the mayor and other officials declined to appear and the commission members ate their box lunches in the garden of a Palestine government official.

At Ramallah, Mayor Saleh, a one-time resident of Detroit and Chicago who returned to Palestine 15 years ago, declared, "Given a chance and with very little expenditure, the Arabs could achieve much in Palestine."

servants, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pfingstel's car.

A few moments later, the Wieners' 18-year-old daughter, Claire, and the Salitsky's 20-year-old son, Irwin, arrived and they also were bound, gagged and robbed.

Then the men fled at 12:30 a. m. in a black sedan bearing New York license plates.

Wiener said the three gunmen appeared to be between 35 and 40 years old and the masked man between 45 and 50. None of the victims were able to identify the stickup men.

"They were very gentle and suave," Wiener said. "They looked like they were old hands at it."

BLUE CHIPS

Harriman and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson are due to arrive in Berlin July 2 with staffs of experts to study economic problems in Western Europe. Their itinerary includes The Netherlands, Belgium, France and Britain as well as Germany.

Of these countries all but Holland and Belgium are desperately short of many of the necessities to sustain life. All but Holland have experienced numerous post-war political turnovers, and more turnovers are expected unless the man in the street is better clothed and fed.

Heavy over Western Europe hangs the threat of Communism, the political force emanating from Soviet Russia and already has made such leaping strides in Eastern Europe and the Balkans.

An Associated Press survey of reaction in interested countries showed today that the Paris meetings are being watched with cynicism and pessimism.

Wes Gallagher, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Germany, said "the Germans are gloomy on any concrete results coming from the Marshall plan. Having just read of the failure of the Moscow conference they look with a cynical eye on fundamental differences on economic problems being solved at Paris.

"Furthermore, they have seen the four powers in Germany completely stalemated on economic and political problems since the end of the war, and they expect these differences will be carried over into the negotiations for the Marshall plan."

Charles H. Guptill, chief of the Rome bureau, reports the same skepticism among Italians, declaring "previous failures of the great powers to find a basis for cooperation do not encourage the Italians to set too high hopes on this American initiative. Some, evidently interpreting the plan as signifying an offer of further American handouts, believe the victors will get first consideration in distribution of whatever benefits there are."

Other Italians," he said, "express the opinion that more practical results can be obtained, so far as Italy is concerned, by bi-lateral arrangements with the United States to rehabilitate Italian economy."

The average Belgian believes that "if no agreement with Russia is reached at the Paris conference the world is heading for a major catastrophe." The Associated Press bureau in Brussels reported.

Holland does not need food any more, Amsterdam dispatches said, but building materials, textiles, machinery and tools for reconstruction.

France and Britain are both intensely interested in the plan because they need the means to produce wheat, coal and electricity, and transportation to distribute the products of their economy.

Between the German and Allied air forces, the biggest percentage of railway rollin gstock in Europe was wrecked.

As for the Russians, one veteran American correspondent with five years experience in Moscow, said the Russians had come to Paris "to ask for the same things they have always asked for before at international meetings—reparations and a share in the Ruhr."

Russian demands that fell on deaf ears at the Moscow conference were for $10,000,000,000 reparations and four-powre control of the industrially potent Ruhr.

This opinion was reinforced in the communist newspaper L'Humanite in Paris today when it declared. "it is inevitable that the question of Germany and German reparations will be brought up soon."

LABOR BILL

in some quarters, the Democrats will blame the Republicans and seek to make it an issue."

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip, said he is "perfectly willing" for the Democratic committee to make the Taft-Hartley bill a campaign issue if it wants to.

"If that's the way Sullivan wants to draw the issue," Wherry told a reporter, "it's all right with us. If the Democratic National committee doesn't believe that the country wants these labor abuses corrected, let it find out.

"This law may not be perfect, but it is a start in the right direction."

Sullivan went to some length to contend that Mr. Truman had done everything possible in his unsuccessful effort to get his veto sustained. Before congress voted, labor leaders had asserted publicly that it was not enough for the president merely to veto the bill, adding that he must demonstrate that he wanted his action sustained.

Sullivan described the president's effort to sustain his veto as "unique," adding that "never before had a chief executive tried so hard to muster support."

MINERS

as mine-owner after 13 months, this official explained, no "strike" or "dispute" will exist in the legal sense. This is because the miners will then have no contract and therefore no employers. They will simply be unemployed until a new contract is signed with the mine operators, this official said, and therefore will not be subject to the Taft-Hartley procedure.

Labor department officials still hope for an agreement before the deadline, at least one covering the northern and western coal fields.

Their optimism was bolstered by the reports of the Fairless-Murphey-Lewis meeting. U. S. Steel is the leading operator of "captive" coal mines—those run by steel companies primarily to fuel their own mills. The Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. is the world's largest commercial coal concern and has iron ore and steel interests as well. Each is a bellwether in its area of the coal industry.

The northern and western operators have held desultory talks with UMW negotiators in the week past, but the southern operators have not resumed negotiations.

ORA FIELD REPORTS BOTH GOOD, BAD

Neva Norris No. 1 O. K. But Adjacent Well Is Dry; Salt Water Curbed

Salt water, at first a source of no little concern to operators in Union parish's new Ora field, no longer is a serious worry and is being viewed as little more than a rather expensive annoyance now that a means for its elimination has been found.

King & McCalman's Neva Norris No. 1, officially guaged Friday afternoon, showed 54 per cent salt water in flowing from 2,168-74 1/2 feet at the rate of 165 barrels per day, making the net yield of oil 78 barrels per day. The owners announced they would install a "heater-treater," a device designed to dispose of the salt water as the pure oil continues on to the tank. It was said that probably all wells in the new field are to be so equipped.

The first "heater-treater," costing approximately $1,300, was installed early in the week at the Sellars-Ewing-Primos discovery well, which had been shut off when an estimated 3 per cent of water developed. Its function was not needed, however, for when production was resumed Friday it was found that the water content had disappeared and pipeline oil was flowing at a volume considerably in excess of the well's original rating of 113 barrels per day.

Close on the heels of the conservation department's announcement that the Neva Norris No. 1 appeared to be a "fair producer" came a report that the same operators' No. 2 well, a short distance to the east on the same lease, appeared to have encountered "very little sand" at production depth and probably would be abandoned.

Another apparently unsuccessful Ora field well is the Neely Wells Service company's Futch No. 1 just south of the Feazel-Neely-Roberts' Dykes No. 1, which was officially gauged Wednesday as flowing at the rate of 10 barrels per day with 10 per cent base sediment-water content. The Futch well was reported Saturday as having "only one foot of pay sand. There was no further report on the Marine Oil company's Monzingo-Rivers No. 1, which was said earlier in the week to have indicated an unprofitable yield of around three barrels of oil per day.

With casing set and cemented in its Frost Lumber Co., No. 1, first of a projected east-and-west row of wells just north of its now celebrated No. 2 core test, the Shell Oil company Saturday had not asked for an official test.

Applications for permits to drill in the new field—counting wells already completed—totaled nearly 50 Saturday. New locations during the week included the following: Sidney G. Myers, Sr., for the Cann No. 1, one mile northeast of the discovery well; Feazel-Neely & Roberts for the J. C. Williams, Sr., No. 1, one mile southwest; C. H. Murphy, Jr., for the E. E. Norris No. 1 in the west offset of Neva Norris No. 1; J. C. Lesage company for the P. P. Price estate No. 1, three miles southwest of the main field and classed as a wildcat, and E. N. Kilpatrick, Farmerville undertaker, for the M. E. Compton, Jr., No. 1, three miles south and also a wildcat.

While the Union parish development blows hot and sold with successes and failures about equal, the Murphy-Sun company continues to bring in producers in the Delhi field and its Madison parish extension. Its 22nd in the latter area, east of Bayou Macon, is the J. H. O'Neal No. 5, which was gauged at 248 barrels per day from 3,268-78 feet through a 3/16 choke. In the main Delhi field the company brought in its J. E. Holt No. 45 at 196 barrels per day from 3,354-64 feet through a 3/16 choke and its R. E. Phillips No. 4 at 265 barrels from 3,461-7 through a 1/4 choke.

A tight well wildcat, for which a permit has been asked, is the Union Producing company's O'Brien No. A-1, in section 5-19-11E, East Carroll parish, twelve miles southwest of Lake Providence.

TISDALE-MYRICK WILDCAT DRY HOLE

"Dry and abandoned at 3,820 feet," was the report Saturday afternoon on the wildcat well drilled by George Mitchell and Carl Anderson of Jackson, Miss., on the 3,100-acre plantation of Dr. A. D. Tisdale of Monroe and E. H. Myrick in Richland parish, 12 miles east of Monroe and 1 1/2 miles south of Crew Lake. Cores taken at various levels revealed no trace of oil, a representative of the operators said, and he added that no further testing of that area is planned by them.

SALVATIONISTS ARE RECOZNIZED

War Work Of S. A. Leads To Honors From Queen Wilhelmina

The Salvation army throughout the southern states has been honored in recognition of its war time services to the armed forces of the Allied nations and particularly the Netherlands by Queen Wilhelmina, who has appointed Major C. Langley Andrews, Salvation army USO director a knight in the Order of Orange-Nassau.

Netherlands Ambassador, Dr. Alexander Loudon, in a communication to Andrews states that this is meant to express the gratitude of the government and the people of the Netherlands for your devoted effort on their behalf.

The Salvation army operated USO clubs according to a coincidental statement issued by Commissioner William C. Arnold, southern territorial commander, have in the southern territory alone, rendered almost sixty million items of service to men and women of the armed forces of all nations. This recognition by the queen of the Netherlands shows the appreciation of the American and allied service personnel for the earnest endeavor of the Salvation army USO clubs located throughout the southern states and New Orleans may be considered an outstanding example where large groups from the fighting forces of thirteen allied nations as well as our own, have kept this large club in a state of continuous activity throughout the war years and up until the present time.

Boxscore Of Republican Congress Has Good Average Against Truman

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Here is the boxscore on Congress as it heads into its seventh and final month of this session:

Passed: The Taft-Hartley labor bill, portal-to-portal pay suit ban, $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid bill, $350,000,000 foreign relief bill, United States participation in the International Refugee organization, two-term presidential limitation, modified rent control.

Pending and likely to pass: Government support prices for wool without restrictions on imports, continuation of export controls over materials in short supply, limited authority for the state department's foreign information program, permission for veterans to cash terminal leave bonds, unification of the army and navy, increase in minimum wages, legislation to put House speaker in line for presidency after vice-president.

Killed by veto: $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction and a measure giving the president power to impose new tariffs or quota restrictions on foreign wool.

Likely to be shelved: Long range housing plan, national health insurance, arms standardization for the Western hemisphere, admission of 400,000 of Europe's war refugees, St. Lawrence waterway, increased on-the-job training pay for veterans, universal military service.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—The Republican-dominated Congress rolls into the final months of the session next week with most of its work done but some of President Truman's major domestic proposals slated for the pigeonhole.

The calendar remains crowded. But, aside from a big batch of appropriation bills awaiting final passage, the Republican high command has ticketed only a few major measures for passage.

Only one of the dozen bills which give the government departments and agencies their funds for the new fiscal year starting Tuesday has been passed finally and sent to the president. But the bureaus will be authorized to continue on their present appropriations until the new funds are provided.

On other matters with a June 30 deadline Congress has done better. It has sent to the president a bill continuing rent control until March 1 but providing that landlords may raise rents up to 15 percent if tenants agree in return for a lease. Mr. Truman is expected to sign it Monday.

It also has passed bills continuing for another year the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Commodity Credit Corporation, which otherwise would die at midnight Monday.

And it expects to pass by Monday a resolution continuing the president's authority to control the import and export of certain scarce items from June 30 to July 15 pending further study.

This much more of Mr. Truman's program appears likely to win approval before the session ends July 26:

1. Unification of the army and navy.
2. Renewal of government support prices for wool.
3. A new link in the presidential chain of succession, putting the House speaker in line for the White House directly behind the vice-president.

Congress also expects to pass a bill permitting veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds immediately. Administration officials have opposed it.

Tentatively, Congressional leaders are planning to rush through a boost in the legal minimum wage, raising the floor from 40 to perhaps 60 cents an hour.

In the doubtful category is a proposal to resurrect the $4,000,000,000 income tax bill, cutting levies next Jan. 1. Mr. Truman vetoed the tax cut which Republicans planned for July 1.

Behind the administration lies a major defeat—passage of the Taft-Hartley labor bill over President Truman's veto.

Ahead lie others:

There appears scant chance this year for passage of the bill for universal military training.

Shouldered aside are other measures such as the national health insurance plan, the St. Lawrence seaway, a long-range housing plan, and admission of 400,000 of Europe's homeless war refugees.

Still alive, but with little likelihood of approval this year, is a bill to provide for military cooperation and standardization of arms among the countries of the Western Hemisphere.

"The Republican Congress has written a record of achievements that commends itself to every real American," declared the House Republican floor leader, Rep. Halleck (Ind.), in a statement. "It is in the home-stretch of one of the most productive sessions in history."

SHOOTING WITHIN CITY BRINGS POLICE WARNING

Any persons caught discharging firearms within, or into, the city face prosecution to the full extent of the law, police Chief J. D. Busby warned yesterday.

Chief Busby said that numerous complaints have been received of BB guns and .22 caliber rifles being fired from across the river, and that there have been several narrow escapes from serious injuries.

One of the focal points of the trouble, Chief Busby said, was the area around the 2000 block of South Grand street in which a number of house and car windows have been broken from missiles discharged from Lazarre's Point on the west bank of the Ouachita.

In addition, the Chief said, a bullet fired from the vicinity of the Breece Lumber Co. property, at the end of Grayling Lane, riccocheted and just missed the occupants of a nearby fishing boat.

Chief Busby said that such actions are a violation of both city and state laws.

Miss Virginia Newman Becomes June Bride Of A. J. Wyly

The First Methodist Church in Monroe was the scene of one of the season's most beautiful weddings when Miss Virginia Dee Newman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Sr., became the bride of Mr. Andrew Jackson Wyly on June 21. The ceremony was performed by the bride's grandfather, the Rev. W. T. Woodward.

Reminiscent of the days of the Colonial South, the church was adorned with a profusion of gladioli, gardenias, magnolias, smilax, and fern. At the entrance to each pew, a large white satin bow with a bouquet or gardenias was placed. Myriads of white tapers in graduated candelabra lighted the altar.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. John Sholars rendered an organ recital of the lovely "Intermezzo". She also accompanied the popular solist, Miss Betty Rinehart, who sang "I Love Thee", by Greig, "Because", and DeBussy's "Claire de Lune".

Mrs. Charles Allen Wallace of Shreveport, was the lovely matron of honor, wearing a drop-shouldered gown of orchid marquisette. The bodice was unusual in its design of criss-cross shirring, and its shawl collar effect standing high about the shoulders. The exceptionally full skirt, mitts of orchid marquisette, and a halo of braided marquisette caught to the head in back with a large bow completed the costume. Her flowers were a shower design of gardenias and Peruvian lilies, tied with orchid satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids, Miss Peggy Morrison, Miss Ann Burgess, of New Orleans, Mrs. Marvin Gleason, and Mrs. J. H. Gilfoil wore identical gowns of nile green, fashioned, like the matron of honor's, with shawl collar, criss-cross shiring, and bouffant skirt. They wore mitts of green marquisette, and halos of the braided material fastened to their heads with large bows. Their flowers were sprays of gardenias, entwined with green tulle.

Miss Mary Virginia Parker, the junior bridesmaid, wore a gown identical to those of the bridesmaids.

Mr. Gilbert Harkey, of Lake Providence, served Mr. Wyly as best man, and groomsmen were Mr. Jim Henry Gilfoil, Lake Providence, Mr. John Breard, Lake Providence, Mr. Richard Morris, Rayville, and Mr. Arthur Wadlington, Farmerville. All men in the wedding party wore crisp summer tuxedos.

The bride and her father entered the church to the strains of the traditional Lohengren. Her petite beauty was accented by her exquisite gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a wide bertha of heirloom Brussels lace, falling from the sweetheart neckline. An intricate design of seed pearl embroidery accented the tiny waist, from which the bouffant skirt, ending in a court train, fell. A crown of seed pearls caught the veil of lace and illusion to the bride's coppery tresses. She carried a treasured lace handkerchief, made by her great-grandmother. The bride's bouquet was a shower design of gardenias, tuberoses, stephanotis, and white orchids.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, the Newman home was lovely with its decor of gladioli and feverfew. The bride's table, overlaid with a handsome linen and madeira cut-work banquet cloth, was centered with beautiful three tiered wedding cake, set in a ring of gardenias. Crystal candelabra held gleaming white tapers. On the buffet, guests viewed a miniature wedding scene.

Presiding at the handsome crystal punch bowls were Mrs. E. W. Cruse, Mrs. Aaron F. Parker, and Mrs. F. C. McConnell, who wore becoming evening models with harmonizing corsages.

Mrs. J. P. Newman, Sr., mother of the bride, wore a model of handsome beige lace and crepe, fashioned with a draped skirt. Her corsage of pink gardenias matched her elbow length gloves.

Mrs. A. J. Wyly, the groom's mother, wore a becoming gown of powder blue chiffon, with a corsage of white gladioli and elbow length gloves of white.

Individual wedding cakes and dainty mints were served by Mrs. Harry W. Askew, Mrs. John Allder, Miss Charlotte Padgett, Miss Gloria Veach, Miss Sally Ann Ware, Miss Mae Schurb, Miss Mary Edith Breard, and Miss Dorothy Stamper, who wore pastel evening models with corsages of white asters.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wyly left for a wedding trip to Rockaway Beach, on Lake Taneycomo in the Ozark Mountains. Mrs. Wyly chose, as her going away outfit, a striking suit of electric blue, worn with a white chiffon blouse trimmed with bands of lace. Her accessories were navy blue, and her corsage was of white orchids.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wyly will be at home at 431 Pine Street, New Orleans. Mrs. Wyly is a graduate of Neville high school, Northeast Junior college, and Louisiana State University. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma and Kappa Gamma sororities.

Mr. Wyly graduated from Lake Providence High school, Webb School, in Bell Buckle, Tenn., Northeast Junior College, and is now a member of the senior class of the Louisiana State University Medical school. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and Phi Chi, professional medical fraternity.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Askew, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. W. L. Pilkinton, Shreveport, La.; Miss Dorothy Stamper, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. W. S. Miss Marie Zagone Becomes June Bride Of Anthony Lasuzzo

In an impressive ceremony held recently at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Miss Marie Zagone, daughter of Mrs. Mary Zagone, became the bride of Mr. Anthony Lasuzzo, son of Mr. Sam Lasuzzo, of this city.

Mrs. A. J. Marsala, the bride's sister, who was matron of honor, wore a gown of aqua marquisette. Her headband, of the same material, was adorned with dainty yellow rose buds, and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Lena Sciara, maid of honor, wore a model of yellow marquisette, fashioned with long torso lines and buffant skirt. She wore a headband of yellow marquisette adorned like the matron of honor's with yellow roses. Her bouquet was also of yellow roses.

Little Miss Mary Jo Marsala, who served as flower girl, wore a dress identical to that of the maid of honor, in aqua marquisette. Mr. Joe Zagone acted as best man, and Victor David Cascio was ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charlie Zagone, was strikingly beautiful in a gown of traditional ivory satin, with a high neckline. The yoke of marquisette was outlined with a bertha of handsome Italian cut work, and the bouffant skirt fell to a court train. Her veil of illusion was caught to a tiarra of seed pearls and orange blossoms, fashioned in leaf designs. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Preceding the ceremony, an organ concert was rendered by Mrs. D. G. Nichols, who also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. George Temple in Gounouds' "Ave Maria." The impressive was conducted by the Rev. Lawrence Bonin during nine o'clock mass.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, on North Fourth St. The bride's table, adorned with gardenias and daisies in artistic arrangements, was centered with the beautiful three tiered wedding cake, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom.

Guests were served delicious refreshments of ice frappe, canapes, and miniature pastry shells filled with chicken salad.

Mrs. Lasuzzo is a graduate of St. Matthew's High school, and is now connected with the Bella Scherck Davidson Dress Shop. Mr. Lasuzzo graduated from Neville High school and is now an employe of the Terminal Bag Factory. After a brief wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple are now at home at 413 Calypso street, in Monroe.

Out of town guests for the wedding included: Miss Frances Zagone, Houston, Texas; Mrs. John Dudrich, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Charles Calichia, Port Arthur, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Speracino and family, Beaumont, Texas; Mrs. J. C. Gaskins, of Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gentile, Chicago, Ill.; and Major A. J. Marsala, Monterey, California.

BERNICE WEDDING UNITES LODINE KINARD ROBERTSON AND MR. THOMAS N. GRESHAM

A wedding marked by beauty and simplicity was that of Lodine Kinard Robinson, daugher of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Kinard of El Dorado, Ark., to Mr. Matt Lyle Gresham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Gresham, Bernice. The wedding was solemnized Saturday, June 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Porter, the groom's sister, Bernice, with the Rev. M. V. Burns officiating.

The improvised mantle-altar, banked solidly with lemon leaves, fern, and pink peonies, was flanked with graduated candelabra and floor standards filled with piccardy gladioli. Ivory tapers, glowing in the candelabra furnished the only light for the impressive ceremony.

Mrs. Blanche Hollis, sister of the groom, played a nuptial concert at the piano, and accompanied Mrs. Porter, who sang "Love's Old Sweet Song." At the beginning of the ceremony, as the tapers were being lit by John Lee Caldwell, Jr., the groom's nephew, and Van Salley, Mrs. Hollis played "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

The bride's only attendant, her sister, Miss Ferry Kinard, wore a becoming dress of brown crepe with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

In a model of powder blue crepe, fashioned with plunging V neckline and draped skirt, the lovely bride entered the living room to the strains of the traditional wedding march. Her corsage was a single white orchid.

James Salley, Shreveport, acted as best man, and Lyman J. Endsley, El-Dorado, and Martin Porter, Bernice, served as ushers.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Kinard, wore a gown of black Bemberg sheer with a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Gresham, mother of the groom, wore a gray sheer model with a corsage of pink carnations.

A green and white theme prevailed at the reception which followed immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table, overlaid with a cloth of Irish lace, was centered with a crystal bowl, overflowing with pink peonies. Mrs. Lyman J. Endsley, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Van Salley served punch from a cut crystal bowl at one end of the table. From the other end, Mrs. John Lee Caldwell, Jr., niece of the groom, and Mrs. John Lee Caldwell, sister of the groom, served individual wedding cakes. Ivory tapers on the buffet lighted an artistic plaque of pink peonies and daisies, which centered the buffet.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Gresham left for a honeymoon trip in New Orleans. For traveling, Mrs. Gresham chose a white linen suit worn with black accessories, and her bridal orchid pinned to her lapel. Upon their return, the couple will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell of Bernice.

Out-of-town guests who attended the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kinard, Mrs. Lucy Brown Scales, Mr. Bill Scales, and Misses Perry Kinard and Marguerite Hunt, of El Dorado; Mr. James Salley, Miss Mildred Mann, and Mr. Stinson Heard, of Shreveport; Mr. Ford Salley and Mr. Fred Salley and Mr. Dan Watson, of Monroe; and Mrs. John Lee Caldwell, Jr., of Farmerville.

PRENUPTIAL LUNCHEONS FOR MISS FIRNBERG ARE LOVELY EVENTS OF WEEK

Miss Betty Firnberg, a bride-elect of July who is being widely entertained, was guest of honor at two lovely affairs last week.

Miss Gertrude Abramson was hostess at a luncheon for Miss Firnberg at the La Casa Tea Room. Centering the table was a delicate arrangement of white feverfew and fern, lending a bridal air to the appointment. Miss Abramson took this opportunity to present Miss Firnberg with handsome crystal goblets in her wedding pattern. The intimate group who shared this delightful occasion were Mrs. T. L. Firnberg, Mrs. L. A. Smith, Miss Firnberg, and Miss Abramson.

Perfect in every detail was the bridge-luncheon for Miss Firnberg, given by Mrs. Louis Tonore at her home in Tallulah. Arrangements of shasta daisies enhanced the beauty of the reception suite, and centered the luncheon table, where a cool theme of green and white prevailed. From the novel centerpiece, charming nosegays of daisies radiated to each place setting. The green and white motif was carried out in each course of the beautifully appointed luncheon.

During the afternoon, guests played two rubbers of bridge. High score low score to Miss Pattie Lee Padgett, prize went to Miss Sally Ann Ware, and consolation prize was won by Mrs. T. L. Firnberg. Mrs. Tonore presented her honor guest with a beautiful sterling bon bon dish.

Guests for this enjoyable occasion were Mrs. H. L. Johns; of New Orleans, Miss Patty Lee Padgett, Miss Sally Ann Ware, Miss Lucille Mosely, Mrs. T. L. Firnburg and Miss Firnberg, of Monroe; and Miss Lottie Louise Lee, of Tallulah.

Mrs. Mildred Swift Is Guest Speaker At Secretaries Meeting

The Monroe Chapter of Secretaries International held an open meeting at the Y. W. C. A. Monday, June 16, for the purpose of raffling a lovely quilted chintz bedspread.

Mrs. Lena Wallace, president, welcomed the guests and members present, and introduced Mrs. Mae Modes, president-elect for the year beginning July 1, who made an interesting talk. Mrs. Modes proposed, "Suppose we, as members of SI pledge ourselves to set aside one day of the week and call it "Surprise Day", and surprise someone on that day. Perhaps no more than a letter or card to a friend at some distant place, or a telephone call of encouragement to someone needing it. Perhaps you know someone of whom you are thinking right now to whom some surprise could be directed—a book, a flower, a small gift, or even a visit of five minutes. Let's designate each Monday in the year as a day upon which we will surprise someone—someone perhaps less fortunate—someone who is bed-ridden—someone who is an invalid—an orphan or an aged person. Let's do it in the name of Secretaries International."

The guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Mildred Swift, associate city Home Demonstration agent, gave many interesting suggestions for the arrangement and decoration of the bedroom. "When we speak of the bedroom, we speak of our own kingdom. When we are planning our bedroom, we can let our imagination run riot. That is ours and it is going to be like we want it.

"The first thing we think of is the arrangement of the furniture. All furniture should be parallel with the wall and floor boards. The room should be well balanced; all large pieces of furniture should not all be on the same side of the room. The furniture should be arranged in three major groups: the sleeping group, in which is included the bed, the night table, the lamp, and a rug; the dressing group, including the dresser or dressing table, chest of drawers, and clothes closets; and the writing and study group, which includes desk, chair, picture, and lamp. Lighting is of great importance. The lamp should be placed on the left side of the desk; and the dressing table should be arranged so that the light falls on the person, not on the mirror."

Building the room around the bedspread to be raffled, which was on display, Mrs. Swift chose the color scheme for the room. "Wall colors are selected first. Walls should be a little lighter than the floor and the ceiling a little lighter than the walls. Walls can be papered or painted, flowered, striped, or solid; woodwork can match the walls, which is very modern, or it can be cream. Use subdued colors when painting the walls rather than deep or bright colors. Bare polished floors with scatter rugs carrying out the color scheme of the room is very effective. Now that we have the walls, ceiling, and floor taken care of, we can select the curtains and draperies. Be sure the curtains are full enough; full curtains of a cheap material are more effective than skimpy curtains of expensive material. The curtains can be of four lenghts: to the sill, to the edge of the apron, to the top of the baseboard, or to the floor. Draperies of the same material as the bedspread are very pretty; like the curtins, they too should be full, from 45 to 54 inches wide. To create a very pretty effect, place the dressing table in front of the window, with the skirt in the same treatment as the window. The dressing table can be made very inexpensively, using two orange crates and a nail keg for the stool. We can bring out accent of color in the two chairs, using two dominating colors from the bedspread.

"Pictures are very effective on a plain wall; have one good, large picture, hung above the chest or desk. It is very important that the picture be smaller than the object over which it is hung, to avoid an over-balancing effect. Small pictures or photos can be grouped. All pictures should be hung flat against the wall."

The highlight of the evening was the raffling of the bedspread. The holder of the lucky ticket, which was drawn by Mrs. Swift, was Mrs. E. Otis Edgerton of Tallulah, Louisiana.

OUT-OF-TOWN WEDDING

Of interest to a wide circle of friends in north Louisiana is the wedding of Miss Grace Lorraine Brownlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brownlee, of Mound, La., to Mr. A. A. Balcom, Jr., of Baton Rouge. The ceremony, characterized by beautiful simplicity, took place at the home of Mrs. G. C. Reeves, in Baton Rouge, on July 14.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming two-piece model of white butcher linen, fashioned with a flared peplum which bore wide bands of white cotton lace, sprinkled with tiny rhinestones. Her half hat of white split carnations and agapanthas matched her bride's bouquet of white carnations, centered with an orchid.

Miss Marion Brownlee, sister of the bride, and only attendant, wore a lovely dress of pink crepe which featured diagonal bands of lace insertion at the neckline. She wore a half hat of split carnations and agapanthas, fashioned like the bride's, and a matching corsage.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. C. R. Balcom of Baton Rouge.

Imediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Reeves' home. Quantities of garden flowers decorated the reception suite. The bride's table centered with an arrangement of sweet peas and maidenhair fern in a lovely silver bowl, bore the three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. M. E. Reynolds, of Monroe, Miss Blanche Dickinson, of Baton Rouge, and Miss Betty Brownlee, of Mound, served punch and cake to the guests.

Mrs. Balcom, mother of the groom, wore a summery model of flesh bemberg with a pink rosebud corsage. The bride's mother, Mrs. Brownlee, wore a becoming dress of aqua lace with a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Balcom left, immediately after the reception, for a honeymoon in New York and the East Coast. They will be at home, upon their return, at 4520 Capitol Heights Ave., Baton Rouge.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech, and for the past four years has been employed in Baton Rouge. The groom is a graduate of L. S. U. and Texas A. and M. He is now in business in Baton Rouge.

Out of town guests who attended the wedding included Mr. Douglas Robertson, of Vicksburg, Miss., Mr. Teddy Thompson, of Tallulah, La., Mrs. M. B. Reynolds, Misses Elizabeth and Patsy Doane, of Monroe, and Mrs. George W. Montgomery, Jr., of Bricetand, La.

Miss Hudson Weds Mr. Jack Dyer In Recent Ceremony

The First Methodist Church of West Monroe was the scene of a lovely wedding recently when Miss Jewel Dean Hudson, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Cooper, became the bride of Mr. Jack Scott Dyer, son of Mrs. Sue Dyer, of this city.

Baskets of white gladioli against a background of palms and woodwardia fern flanked the altar, which was lit by myriads of tall white tapers in graduated candelabra. A rope of gardenias and fern lined the chancel, creating an artistic note.

Officiating at the impressive ceremony was the Rev. W. H. Giles. Mrs. Charles Myers, at the organ, rendered a nuptial concert consisting of "Ever Thee." by Hall, the lovely "Schubert's Serenade", and "I Would That My Love'. She also accompanied Miss Dorothy Powell, who sang "Because", and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life."

Miss Bettye Tucker, the bride's only attendant, wore a becoming dress of rose crepe, worn with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mr. Bill Dyer, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. James Mimitry, was lovely in a model of ice blue linen with insets of white Irish lace. Her accessories were white, and she carried a white Bible surmounted with a white orchid and tufts of tulle and stephanotis.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Monroe Country Club. Frosted punch was served from a cut crystal bowl, which centered the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer are now at home in Monroe. Mrs. Dyer is employed by D. M. Moore, and Mr. Dyer by the Illinois Central Railroad Company.

Are You Building Your Children's FUTURE Today?

Perhaps there is a little fellow in your home who is "all ears"... one who takes in everything that's said, including some things he wasn't meant to hear.

Most children are eager to listen . . . hungry to learn. That is why the early years are so important in the building of a child's character. The things he hears, right or wrong, make a deep impression on his mind. Soon they are reflected in his actions and words.

Do you as parents take advantage of the Church's program of religious education in implanting those early impressions? There is no surer builder of character than religious faith.

The time is NOW . . . your child is eager to listen and learn, bring him to your church regularly . . . and support your church in its great undertaking.

That citizens of the surrounding territory may become better acquainted with their churches, this page is reverently dedicated by

MISS BETTY FIRNBERG IS FETED AT PRENUPTIAL TEA IN HOME OF MRS. M'QUILLER

The home of Mrs. C. B. McQuiller was the scene of one of the season's most beautifully appointed teas recently, when Mrs. McQuiller and Mrs. Pete Lampkins entertained for Miss Betty Firnberg, a lovely bride-elect of July.

In the living room, the beauty of the antique mantle was accented by an arrangment of vitex and oleanders. Gladioli and gardenias were used in profusion throughout the reception suite. The tea table was covered with an exquisite cloth of linen, which featured an embroidered flounce, joined to the cloth with an inset of beading. Green ribbon was run through the beading, and at each corner of the table a large green bow hung. Green ribbons extended the length of the table, connecting a plaque of California daisies at one end, and at the other, a handsome American pattern, crystal punch bowl. White candles in crystal candelabra softly lit the table and the buffet, which was banked with Magnolia Grandiflora.

Delicately tinted green ice was served to the guests by Mrs. Jack Hayes, wearing a black net gown, and Miss Juanita Porter, in a becoming model of gold crepe. Almond chicken sandwiches, petit pois sandwiches, varieties of dainty cookies and mints were passed on crystal platters by Miss Donna Faye Montgomery, in a dress of pink ninon, Miss Polly Jean Phelps, in pink taffeta and black net, Miss Martha Roddy, in blue taffeta, and Miss Lucille Mosely, in Pink net.

Guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. W. M. Montgomery, wearing a powder blue model of chiffon, and by Mrs. Fred Grant, who wore burgundy lace. In the living room, Mrs. McQuiller, stately in a white crepe gown, Mrs. Lampkins, in a red plaid taffeta model, Mrs. T. L. Firnberg, in black net with gold accents, Miss Firnberg, in an original gown of white mousseline de soie with hand stenciled rose pattern from hem to shoulder, and Mrs. L. A. Smith, grandmother of the honoree, in black lace, received the hundred and fifty guests who called during the evening.

CITIZENSHIP OF WORLD FAVORED

State P.-T.A. Selects Theme For Year's Work In Schools

Building foundations for world citizenship will be the theme of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association for the 1947-48 program, according to plans for the year's work developed at the meeting of the organization's executive board, said Mrs. W. S. Vincent, president.

"Again, we shall present a bill to the legislature of 1948 asking that the office of state superintendent of education be made appointive by the state board of education rather than elective on a state-wide basis. This position of high rank should be removed from politics," said Mrs. Vincent, state president of P.-T. A.

Monthly subjects of the P.-T. A. program for 1947-48 include study of school programs, of government and taxation relative to the school, school organization, character and spiritual education, community services, community culture, family life and its relation to the needs of the child, and community health facilities and needs.

Mrs. Jack M. Little of Dallas, Tex., vice-president of region six which includes Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi, was the major speaker at the session of Friday, the lat of the two-day series of conferences. She presented the national legislative program, including the statement on national defense adopted by the convention in Chicago this month. The national group unanimously favored strong defense, but opposed universal military training.

The Louisiana State Association had previously taken the same stand, and thus is one of the first of 30 states required for full endorsement of the policy. The national congress resolution stated, "We believe that in this period of international tension, as we work diligently for permanent peace, our nation should maintain a military force capable of going into action in defense of the nation or in fulfillment of our international commitments.

"We urge a broad program of scientific development and technological application, a coordinated intelligence service, a strong up-to-the-minute air force, an army composed of thoroughly trained, fully equipped men. We urge these rather than a universal military training, mobilized mass of half-trained boys. We consider a program of universal military training to be unjustifiable for purely educational purposes, an obstacle to world understanding and world peace, and an inadequate provision for defending the nation under conditions of modern warfare," said Mrs. Little.

She outlined the material available for local programs, in program aids, manuals, and other publications of the national congress.

Attending the sessions in Alexandria, with the president, Mrs. W. S. Vincent, were Mrs. W. E. McCoy, president of Twin-City council, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese and Miss Kate Perkins, both state vice-presidents, Mrs. W. A. Cotton, Fifth district director, and Miss Eloise Cann, state budget chairman.

MILK IN PARISH IS NOW GRADED

Health Unit Director Announces Return To System Here

The grades of all dairies, milk processors, and milk distributors in Ouachita parish are announced Saturday by Dr. W. Carroll Summer, director, Ouachita parish health unit.

The State Sanitary Code requires the health officer to announce at least once every six months the grades of all milk and milk products produced, processed, sold or offered for sale within his jurisdiction, and to issue grade certificates.

The grades have been determined by the health department in accordance with the grade specifications of the state sanitary code. Following are the grade specifications, together with the names of the dairies, milk processing plants and milk distributing plants and their operators, listed under the grades they have been awarded:

Grade A pasteurized milk is that produced in a plant which meets all the sanitary requirements of the sanitary code, and in addition, the milk is produced from Grade A raw milk with a bacterial plate count which does not exceed 200,000 and with an average bacterial plate count on the pasteurized milk which does not exceed 30,000.

Grade A pasteurization plants: Barnes Dairy, R. L. Barnes, owner, West Monroe; Cloverleaf Dairy, M. L. Johnson, manager, Monroe; Cooperative Dairy, S. B. Archibald, manager, Monroe; Riser's Dairy, Riser Brothers, owners, West Monroe.

Dairies producing Grade A raw milk to be pasteurized: G. P. Avant, West Monroe; O. C. Avant, West Monroe; T. I. Avant, Calhoun; J. Y. Barnes, Calhoun; R. L. Barnes, West Monroe; W. J. Brooks, Calhoun; W. S. Calloway, West Monroe; Harvey Cloyd, West Monroe; O. O. Cloyd, West Monroe; Ben Crawford, West Monroe; Robert Harmon, Monroe; O. G. Hattaway, Calhoun; W. O. Hattaway, Calhoun; Chester Holloway, Eros, Route 2; Green Bros., West Monroe; A. Kilpatrick, Calhoun; M. L. Johnson, Monroe; Robert Layton, Monroe; E. McDaniel, Calhoun; W. W. McDonald, Monroe; Son McGrew, West Monroe; North La. Experiment Station, Calhoun; D. E. Owens, West Monroe; H. G. Owens, West Monroe; Fred Staples, Calhoun; Sunshine, West Monroe; Swayze's Dairy, Monroe; M. A. Thompson, Indian Village; Fred Watson, Calhoun; and M. M. Worthy, West Monroe.

Grade A raw milk is raw milk which meets all the requirements of the sanitary regulations, is produced from cows certified to be free from Brucellosis (Bang's disease), and the average bacterial plate count which does not exceed 50,000.

Dairies producing Grade A raw milk for retail: J. C. Halsell, West Monroe, and Royal Dairy, Monroe.

Standard raw milk is milk which meets all the requirements of the sanitary regulations for Grade A raw milk, but lack of hoods to cover the entire pouring lip of the bottle prevents this milk from being labeled Grade A.

Standard retail raw milk: H. & H Dairy, West Monroe; O. G. Hattaway, Calhoun; Robert Harmon, Monroe.

Grade B raw milk is raw milk which meets all the requirements of the sanitary regulations and the average bacterial plate count does not exceed 1,000,000.

Grade B milk for manufacturing purposes: Mrs. W. W. Furlow, Swartz.

All milk coming into Monroe from outside the parish for pasteurization is of Grade A quality.

No blended or reconstituted milk is being put out by the plants at this time due to the fact that a fresh supply is adequate.

Steps have been taken to exclude from the market all milk and milk products that have been judged to be immediately dangerous to the public health.

Barnes' Dairy, Riser's Dairy, J. C. Halsell's Dairy and Royal Dairy have provided the health department with bonafide evidence that hoods to cover the pouring lip of the milk bottle are on order, but due to the large demand and shortage of critical materials, the supply houses cannot furnish them with this equipment until a later date.

Dr. Summer offers the full facilities of his office to the operators of the dairies and milk processing plants for advice and assistance in maintaining a good milk supply.

Age To Blame—Any Age

Universal Alibi For Conduct Ever Based On One's Stage Of Life

WHAT ARE the rights and privileges of age? Any age? Every age? Did you ever think that our universal alibi for all of our sins of omission and commission is age?

It must be atavistic, for babies are born apparently knowing that they can get away with murder by reason of their age. If any adult should scream until he is blue in the face, seemingly just for the heck of the thing, and if he imposed a tyranny on his family that reduced them to practical slavery, we would clap him into the insane asylum. But we concede to the baby the privilege of yelling just as much as he wants to, and if it disturbs other people, what of it?

DOROTHY DIX

Childhood is another period when age furnishes a blanket excuse for everything one does and leaves undone. Little Sally may commit arson with perfect impunity. Little Johnny may murder Grandma in trying out the pistol he got on his birthday. But nobody thinks of punishing them for their crimes. They are just regarded as childish pranks.

ADOLESCENT NUISANCES

Adolescence is likewise a time when youngsters make fools, mountebanks and even criminals of themselves and get by with it just by reason of their age. Girls, with pretty dresses hanging up in their closets, go around looking like Sloppy Janes who have just been fished out of the garbage pile. Teenage boys appear in public unwashed and unshorn, filthier looking than any nobo. Both sexes talk a gibberish that they seem to have gotten from their ancestral monkeys, and if either one has been taught any manners, they have thrown them into the discard.

It must make many parents wonder, as they look at their adolescent offspring, why they took the trouble and went to the expense of rearing them. Probably they wouldn't have done so, except that they have seen other people's children who, when they were bobby-soxers, seemed headed for the Home for the Feeble-Minded or the Jail for Juvenile Delinquents who recovered their sanity and developed into being fine men and women. All that ailed them was their age.

But it is not youth alone that uses age as a justification of its acts. Old people are even more prone to hide behind their birthdays than boys and girls are, and to feel that because they have had 60, 70, or 80 of 'em that it gives them the right to be disagreeable.

Think of the old people you know who are very imperfect ablutioners and who seem to have an allergy to clean clothes, or having their haircut or keeping it combed. Think of the old people you know who are selfish, mean and tyrannical and who enslave their children to them. Think of the old people you know who trample roughshod over everybody else's sensibilities and who tell everybody home-truths that shame and mortify them. Think of the old people you know who bore everyone to tears by monopolizing the conversation and reminiscing about the Rutherford B. Hayes administration. Think of the old people you know who are whining and complaining and who apparently never have a kind thought or do a generous deed.

Do these old people ever think what pests they are, or how hard they make life for their children and for everybody else with whom they come in contact? Not at all. They feel that they have a perfect right to be cantankerous just because of their age.

For they know that they have the one unassailable alibi. And they work it for all it is worth.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.— (AP) —I don't know anyone who has more telephones growing to his ear or gets a bigger kick out of being a movie producer than Lester Cowan.

He plays the role to the hilt—like John Barrymore doing "Hamlet" and "King Lead" on the same set. He plays it for fun as well as money.

He is a chunky, friendly, enthusiastic man with a head full of ideas for making pictures outside the conventional patterns. His tremendous energy, shrewd box office timing—he made Ernie Pyle's "G. I. Joe"—and business judgment have made him a top film figure at an age when he is too old to be a "boy wonder" and too young to be middle-aged.

To me Lester is "Mr. Hollywood." and I suppose he will cut me off his cocktail list for calling him that. Because he doesn't like to think he is "Hollywoodish." Nobody out here does for some reason.

But his life reads like a Horatio Alger tale polished up by Ben Hecht.

Lester as a boy sold newspapers in Dayton, O. Then he went into the glove business—boxing. But he soon decided there was no future in getting roundheeled from catching fists in the face.

He came out here, got a start in the film industry and went up like a champagne cork. He now is a leading independent producer, associated with Mary Pickford.

Most producers merely supervise pictures. Lester lives his. He throws himself head foremost into every detail from casting the film to selling it. He would turn the camera crank, too, but I don't believe he holds a union card.

After watching him pinwheel around a studio, I remarked wonderingly:

"He does everything but write the script."

"He rewrites that!" moaned a man by me who turned out to be a script writer.

Lester wears out assistants, writers, directors, actors and stenographers like a beaver full of benzedrine cutting through a straw forest. But what won my admiration was his two-fisted skill with a telephone. He can dial two phones while carrying on three conversations, and he always gets the right number. He has called up everybody but Alexander Graham Bell, and would get him except there's no connection. He doesn't produce movies. He phones them.

Only twice have I seen Lester out of reach of a telephone. Once he went into a room marked "men" and the other time he disappeared behind a door labeled "gentlemen."

He and his pretty wife, Ann Ronell, the well known composer, are my favorite Hollywood couple. They are fine hosts. They invited us out one evening recently to what Lester called their new "small country place" in San Fernando Valley.

When we got there it turned out to be a 40-acre ranch rimmed by a private bridle path. There were three beautifully furnished houses on the estate, a swimming pool, paddock, stables and hot and cold showers for Lester's four blooded horses.

"How do the horses know if the shower is the right temperature?" I asked the trainer.

"They stick in their hoof first to see," gravely suggested the small son of one of the house guests. I was surprised Cowan didn't hire the boy on the spot.

Later we stood by the pool as it reflected the dusk-purpling hills. Moved by the twilight beauty, Cowan said very seriously:

"It's all quite simple out here. We want to keep it that way. We didn't want to bring Hollywood out here."

Well, that's Lester—my "Mr. Hollywood." After all, some producers would have built two darn swimming pools, and ruined the whole rustic atmosphere of that simple four-horse dell.

FIRE ALARMS

CLEAR MANGHAM STORE BURGLARY

Part Of Loot Found, Suspects Arrested On Ice Plant Employe's Tip

RAYVILLE, June 28.—(Special)—Two Negroes, Dewey Broussard, 47, operator of a pressing shop in Mangham, and Isaac Delaney, farmer of near Baskin, are being held in the Richland parish jail, charged with breaking and entering the Red Ball Store at Mangham last Tuesday night.

Broussard had been under suspicion since the burglary which netted loot of $1,000 or more according to R. E. Kenton, proprietor of the store.

Orlan Hudson, an employe of the Mangham ice plant, reported seeing Delaney near the burglary scene. Acting on this tip, officers proceeded to the home of Delaney near Baskin where they found a portion of the loot in his car.

Delaney at first denied any part in the burglary but the officers used the old trick of informing him that Broussard had confessed, implicating him. "That nigger was the one that done it," cried Delaney, "and I only helped him haul it away."

Broussard came to Mangham a short time ago from south Louisiana and is reported to have a criminal record.

Sheriff J. Foster Jones was aided in the investigation and arrests by his deputy, M. L. Jones, a state trooper and Deputy Sheriff Jess Peyton of Franklin parish.

Reporters Set Off Blasts In Kansas City Elections

Wide-Spread Frauds In Primary Draws National Spotlight On Grand Jury, Federal Investigations

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28.—(AP)—"Get the facts."

Two Kansas City Star reporters nodded agreement—and went to work.

Weeks later, when their tedious assignment was completed, they uncovered what they termed evidence of widespread frauds in the Democratic primary election last August.

Today, a variegated harvest of events is being reaped.

The Kansas City primary was no ordinary local campaign. It stepped out of that class when President Truman added fuel to the struggle for the Democratic nomination for congress from the fifth Missouri district. He endorsed Enos Axtell against Incumbent Roger C. Slaughter, with whom the chief executive had clashed over domestic policies.

Axtell was backed by the organization of the late Tom Pendergast, the same one which supported Truman for county judge and later for U. S. senator.

The sun had barely set on primary election day when the rumors began. City election officials began checking into a few things, particularly lop-sided returns from some precincts. Two days later the star assigned reporter Jack Swift and Ex-War Correspondent Ira McCarty to investigate.

Swift and McCarty engaged more than 30 young lawyers, and some law students, most of them World War II veterans. Without access to the ballot boxes—only a grand jury had the authority to open them—the probers went to work.

They canvassed the precincts, house by house, talked to hundreds of voters, some hostile, some reluctant, and some fearful. They took statements and checked figures.

In some precincts they found wide discrepancies between the official count and the tally compiled in questioning individual voters.

In addition, they reported, they found cases of vote buying, and of coercion.

The stack of data they collected numbered more than 10,000 items. It was turned over to Sam Wear, U. S. district attorney.

For several months nothing much happened. Swift went back to his afternoon shift at police headquarters, and McCarty was back on general assignment.

Then on March 12 the district attorney announced that evidence submitted by the Star and the FBI was not sufficient to warrant calling a federal grand jury.

These major developments followed:

1. A Jackson county grand jury, requested by the newly elected Republican prosecutor, James G. Kimbrell, returned indictments against 71 persons. For the most part the defendants were charged with making false returns of an election. Among those charged were a state representative, several minor county officials, precinct captains, election officials and precinct workers. Most of them were Democrats.

2. Five days before they were called for trial in circuit court, safe crackers blew the door from the vault of the city election board, which is quartered in the county courthouse. They carted off the evidence the grand jury had assembled, ballots, poll books and tally sheets from 32 precincts.

3. In Washington a Senate judiciary sub-committee began hearing on a request that the Senate investigate the alleged failure of the Attorney General Tom C. Clark to take action in the reported irregularities. The action was initiated by James P. Kem, freshman Republican senator, whose home is in Kansas City. He said it appeared there has been "dereliction of duty on the part of the attorney general of the United States in failing to prosecute the guilty persons."

4. Before the Senate sub-committee had completed its hearings, the attorney general directed the FBI to make a "full and complete" investigation of the primary.

These events produced scores of pointed statements. Among them was one by Rep. Albert L. Reeves, Jr., the Republican who defeated Axtell, the president's choice, in the general election.

Reeves charged that Clark, instead of making an investigation of the alleged frauds, directed one FBI "merely to interview" members of the election board and Swift and McCarty.

"The close limitation on the activities of the FBI," he charged, "shows plainly that the intention was to whitewash, not to investigate."

Attorney General Clark denied the "whitewash" charge, and J. Edgar Hoover stated Clark has done nothing "to prevent any investigation" of the alleged frauds.

Asked to comment at a news conference in the White House, President Truman said the investigation of the alleged frauds should be carried to its logical conclusion, that no one wants to condone a vote fraud.

The situat on now stands this way:

Trials of the 71 vote fraud defendants have been set for September. Prosecutor Kimbrell, hampered by the theft of evidence, is seeking a change in state laws to permit grand jury members to testify in trial courts.

The Senate judiciary sub-committee is taking under consideration the request that an investigation be made of the attorney general's activities in the primary aftermath.

The FBI has impounded ballot boxes and has its "full and complete investigation under way.

WELFARE WORK IN STATE IS LAUDED

Terry Reports Rapid Progress Since Legislative Act Of 1936

RAYVILLE, La., June 28.—(Special)—Commissioner W. S. Terry, Jr., of the state department of public welfare told a large group of parish officials, social and civic workers and representatives of veterans' organizations Thursday that welfare work in Louisiana, in the way of more efficiently meeting the needs of our people, has made rapid progress since the Legislative act of 1936. "Prior to this time," said the speaker, "responsibility for public assistance rested largely with merchants, business men and wealthy farmers who singled out individual cases and donated food, clothing and money to alleviate suffering."

Mr. Terry said the present system of public relief grew out of the old federal emergency relief agency which was set up to provide for those who could not qualify under WPA; that the federal government agreed to match dollar for dollar if the state would take over this particular group for relief purposes. He said today his department is serving four catagories of peoples and under the law must certify all applicants who fall within these classes regardless of funds on hand.

The speaker stated that prior to Pearl Harbor there were 86,000 people on the welfare rolls which number strangely dropped to 52,000 during the war. He accounted for this by saying that many handicapped people, who formerly received aid, were dropped from the rolls when pressed into war work and other duties. Mr. Terry said the number of recipients was now gradually increasing.

The commissioner advocated an extension of social security as a means of eventually decreasing public assistance. "I am convinced," he said, "that our welfare rolls could in time be cut half by extending social security to all classes of people and to this end we must all lend our best efforts."

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(AP)—Under the new labor law some unions and employers probably will do "bootlegging" to keep up good relations.

That's what's being predicted here by some people close to the problems of unions and employers.

For example:

A closed shop is outlawed by the new law. A closed shop is where everyone belongs to the union and only union men can be hired.

A boss and union no longer can agree to that in writing. But they may practice closed shop methods secretly.

They'd be violating the law but it might be hard to prove.

Here's an illustration:

Six years ago, amid a lot of bitterness on both sides, a union moved in on employer Brown's plant and organized his workers.

Since then Brown has had to deal with the union, bargaining with it about wages, working conditions, vacations, and so on.

For the first couple of years it was though going while the big problems between Brown and the union were being straightened out.

Then things settled down in Brown's plant. He and the union both felt that one of the reasons for peace was that he agreed to a closed shop.

So, under the closed shop contract, for years now Brown has been hiring none but union men.

But now the new law says Brown can't permit a closed shop any more—or at least after his present contract runs out.

Which means: It will be illegal for Brown and the union to agree that Brown can hire only union men.

But suppose, following the law, he starts hiring non-union men in his highly unionized shop.

Will that cause new bitterness, new trouble, maybe work stoppages at a time when Brown is anxious to make money by turning out all the goods he can?

If he thinks so, then this may happen: He and the union won't agree in writing that they have a closed shop in his place.

But, by secret understanding, Brown and the union may agree that he will hire only union men.

A non-union man, turned down by Brown, could complain about it to the National Labor Relations Board which would have to investigate.

But that's where proving Brown and the union had a closed shop conspiracy would come in. It might not be easy.

This doesn't mean that all employers would enter such an arrangement with a union.

Some who have disliked the union in their plant undoubtedly will use every means the new law gives them for weakening the tight grip on the union.

HOSPITAL DEAL MORE PROMISING

If the local committee of the Ouachita Valley Memorial Hospital foundation will agree to raise 75 per cent of the cost of the building, St. Francis' Sanitarium and Training School for Nurses, will provide the remainder as well as all equipment and operating expenses. This assurance was embodied in a letter that the hospital committee of the Chamber of Commerce received Saturday, and is in regard to the proposed 100-room hospital that is proposed for Monroe to fill an increasing need.

The hospital would be an annex to the present hospital.

The receipt of this information has stimulated the local Chamber to action and it has been voted to take steps to ascertain what will be the cost of the institution when plans are prepared and also a governmental agency will be able to advance the requisite 75 per cent it is believed.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce were well pleased with the information conveyed in the letter and believe that it is quite probable that a deal may be effected to give the city another much needed hospital.

ANNOUNCE WORD CONTEST WINNERS

Dewey Mobley, Jr., First With 425 Made From 'Duel In The Sun'

How many words can be made out of the twelve letters in "Duel In The Sun," title of the feature motion picture that opened at the Joy Theater at last night's Midnight Show?

Well, Dewey Mobley, Jr., 18, of 307 Jack McEnery street, a freshman at Louisiana Tech and a 1946 graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, found 425, and that made him the winner of theater's "word contest" and tickets for five choice seats at any performance during the run of the currently most-talked-of picture.

Second among the more than 100 persons who submitted lists were Paul T. Campbell, who gave his address as the Louisiana hotel and who wangled an even 400 words out of the 12 letters and will receive four tickets.

Third place and three tickets went to Mary L. Flacy of 410 South Second street, with 368 words, just 18 more than the total number discovered by Ralph H. Marionneaux, of 109 Grayling Lane, whose 350 gets him two tickets. Finishing fifth in the contest with 331 words was Emma Lou Barton of 609 Wood street, whose pen printing was so perfect that the judges surmised she might be a registered nurse, trained to write patients' charts that way. Under the terms of the contest she really was entitled to only one ticket, but so impressed was he with the neatness of her manuscript that he said he was going to send her a pair of them.

The first prize winner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Mobley, Sr., his father and namesake being a city fireman and driver at No. 4 station.

NEW MEMBERS IN LA. TECH ADDED

Dr. Cottingham Makes Announcement Of Faculty Changes

RUSTON, La., June 28.—(Special)—The appointment of five new faculty members at Louisiana Tech, effective at the beginning of the fall semester at the college on September 8, has been announced from the office of Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, president.

These appointments will bring to 15 the number of new faculty members who will begin their duties at Tech at the beginning of the fall semester. Other additions also are to be made to the teaching staff to accommodate the anticipated high enrollment.

The five new additions to the faculty are:

Robert Elioff, a member of the Ouachita Parish High School faculty for the past three years, has been appointed an assistant professor of physics. A Louisiana Tech graduate, Elioff received his B. S. degree in 1944.

D. R. Davis has been named acting assistant professor of social science, replacing Oren Trout, who has been given a leave-of-absence from Tech for one year for the completion of his doctor's degree. Mr. Davis is a graduate of Missouri State Teachers College, and he has attended the University of Missouri and the University of Chicago.

Robert C. Snyder has been appointed assistant professor of English. A native of Tennessee, Mr. Snyder obtained his B. A. degree at Florence State Teachers College, Florence, Ala., and his M. A. degree from Western Kentucky Teachers College, Bowling Green, Ky.

Miss Maxine Sawyer, formerly a member of the Southeastern Louisiana College teaching staff, has been employed as supervising teacher for the 4th grade in the A. E. Phillips Teacher-Training School at Tech. She will replace Miss Flora Cunningham, retired. Miss Sawyer is a graduate of Northwestern State College of Natchitoches and Colorado State College of Education.

Nilton R. Johnson, Jr., has been appointed an assitant professor of electrical engineering. Johnson graduated from Louisiana Tech in 1940, later completing one year of graduate study at Tulane University. He was formerly employed by the General Electric company, Schenectady, N. Y.

ASK PHONE SERVICE IN SICILY ISLAND

SICILY ISLAND, La., June 28.—(Special)—In a joint resolution, the Sicily Island Rotary club and the American Legion post this week called upon Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., to install a promised telephone exchange in the community or other companies and the state public service commissioner would be contacted in an effort toward securing "adequate telephone service" for residents and business houses.

Joint survey made by the Rotary and Legion indicated 103 individuals and business firms would subscribe to telephone service if it were made available.

There are only six numbers allotted to the community at present and they are on one party line from the Natchez, Miss., exchange. The gross telephone bill for these six numbers averages over $200 per month, it was stated in the resolution. Some months, the bill ran between $350 and $100, according to the organizations.

One major complaint voiced by the Rotary and Legion is the fact that the six phone holders in Sicily Island must pay long distance rates to talk to each other.

CLERGYMAN GETS PRISON SENTENCE

Aged Minister Sentenced Five Years At Hard Labor For Burning Church

MILWAUKEE, June 28.—(AP)—Dr. John Lewis, scholarly 73-year-old minister, today was placed under sentence of one to five years at hard labor in Waupun state prison as the penalty for setting fire to his own church.

A jury convicted Dr. Lewis on a charge of arson in connection with a $150,000 blaze last Jan. 25 at Calvary Presbyterian church, a 77-year-old red-brick edifice where he preached for 12 years. The state claimed he was motivated by a desire for a "bigger and better" house of worship.

Municipal Judge Herbert J. Steffes denied motions for a new trial and to set aside the verdict but granted a stay of sentence until Sept. 15 pending an appeal. Dr. Lewis, who had spent last night in the hospital ward of the county jail, furnished $5,000 bond and obtained his release.

The elderly minister was calm as counsel argued motions. He walked briskly to the bench to be sentenced, but as he stood facing the court he occasionally bent over and placed his elbow on the desk for support. He did not respond when the court gave him an opportunity to speak.

Judge Steffes then told Dr. Lewis, "I regret the necessity of having to remove temporarily from that important work of God's vineyard one of his own workers."

Under the one to five year sentence, Dr. Lewis would have to serve a minimum of one year, minus one month for good behavior, before being eligible for parole.

In pleading for a reversal of the verdict and a new trial, Defence Attorney Harry Meissner said the evidence "merely give opportunity for guesses, inferences and speculations." Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph Tierney replied that state had presented testimony of 48 witnesses and that its case was "as strong as any case involving circumstantial evidence can be. The only thing lacking was the actual catching of the defendant on the premises."

Judge Steffes said "a jury verdict is virtually legally sacrosanct" and that since the jury had debated well over seven hours "there was no hasty conclusion."

State witnesses testified kerosene soaked rags were found in the church at the time of the fire and Dr. Lewis admitted purchasing kerosene and a cleaning fluid shortly before Jan. 24 but said he wanted it to clean clothes.

Welsh-born Dr. Lewis, who came here in 1935 from Scranton, Pa., is a well-known writer and lecturer on religious subjects.

REHABILITATION JOB EXTENSIVE

Tom Hicks, Local Red Cross Disaster Relief Head, Sees Work Ahead

The Red Cross anticipates one of its biggest flood rehabilitation jobs in many months for victims of the Iowa-Illinois - Missouri, Nebraska and Wyoming floods, according to Tom Hicks, disaster chairman of the Ouachita Parish Red Cross chapter, which is supporting the relief operations financially.

"Twenty-three national Red Cross disaster representatives still are in the flood area assisting hundreds of local chapter and other volunteers," Mr. Hicks said. "Many of the shelters and feeding stations set up at evacuation centers in the past week along the Des Moines and Mississippi rivers still are in operation. Red Cross chapters helped to shelter, feed, and provide medical care for 2,000 families evacuated from an 8-county area in southeastern Iowa, and several hundred families at Alexandria, Hannibal, and Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and Canton, Illinois. Relief stations have been set up in chapters farther down the Mississippi, in anticipation of rising waters."

Hundreds of the evacuated families, Mr. Hicks said, are expected to apply for Red Cross assistance in repair or rebuilding of homes and replacing household furnishings and farm equipment destroyed or damaged by flood waters.

The Texas City disaster has already called for a Red Cross expenditure of two million dollars. No one knows what the final cost will be. Many of the injured will have to be trained for a new occupation after their injuries are healed. In discussing the rehabilitation program with a Texas City official, he said, "A person would have to see the sick and injured to even imagine the scope of the Red Cross rehabilitation. In disaster Red Cross remains on duty until the sufferers can resume as normal life as is possible. There is no time limit for Red Cross services.

"This kind of aid obviously will require Red Cross workers on the scene for weeks or months, appraising victims' needs and following through with fund grants. The Ouachita parish chapter is helping to provide funds for this purpose through contributions of the public at annual fund campaign time. Funds granted to disaster victims are outright grants, are made on an individual family basis, and only in cases where the family is found to be unable to meet relief needs out of their own resources."

At the peak of World War II operations the United States was producing about 45 per cent of all armaments being produced by all belligerent nations.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS 'SOILS, SOULS SUNDAY'

BATON ROUGE, June 28.—(Special)—Governor Jimmy Davis today proclaimed tomorrow, June 29, as "Soils and Souls Sunday" and called upon the people of Louisiana "to join in renewing our obligations to the soil.

In his proclamation, Gov. Davis declared "the saving of soils cannot be far removed from the saving of souls."

"In this respect," he continued, "it becomes a religious duty of every church, both country and urban, to observe the commands of God in stewardship of the soil.

"It is fitting that religious groups should assume the responsibility in carrying the message of stewardship of the soil and that all groups, whether governmental or private, should assist in this observance.

TROOPERS JAIL 4 AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Post Reports 16 Arrests In Week; Wandering Texans Grabbed Twice

The sixteen arrests made by members of Troop F of the Monroe state police post during the week included four on charges of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor.

Accused in the drunk driving cases were William F. Gordon, 46, of Monroe route 1, E. D. Boyd, 45, of Winnsboro, James M. Robinson, 23, of Urania, and Johnnie Clayton, 29, of 959 Gray street, Shreveport. The latter was charged additionally with causing property damage and fleeing the scene of an accident.

Bookings in the other arrests were as follows: C. W. Webb, 29, Negro, of Monroe, careless and reckless driving; George Dobbs, 27, of Ruston, improper lights; J. C. Williams, 21, of Gilbert, auto theft; H. D. Costello, 47, of Oak Grove, causing personal injury and property damage and inadequate brakes; Lloyd Wilson, 28, Negro, of Farmerville, improper lights; Olen B. Winfrey, 19, of Bastrop, reckless driving; Henry D. Kees, 25, of Hazelhurst, Miss., investigation, and Jasper W. Henley, 24, Charles E. Thibodeaux, 18, Eddie M. Campbell, Jr., 18, Margaret Henley Woods, 19, and Wanda Nell Henley, 22, of Midland, Texas, suspicion.

The five last named were taken into custody by troopers along U. S. 80, east of Monroe, last Wednesday when they were found seated in a car, out of gas and money. They said they were trying to get to Hazelhurst, Miss., where the men would seek work in an oil field. Held for two days while Henley's ownership of the car was confirmed, they were released and given a tankful of gas, and they left here saying they had decided to go to Magnolia, Ark. The following day it was learned they had been picked up again near Shreveport by troopers from that post and were presumably turned loose after another investigation.

JACK

---THEY THREW OPEN THE DOOR OF THEIR HIDING PLACE, TOOK CARLOTTA AND TUT INTO CUSTODY AND LOADED THEM INTO THE PLANE!

SURELY, YOU DON'T BELIEVE THE THINGS YOU HEARD THIS LITTLE WORM, TUT, SAY?

10 ---SAY--- NOBODY BUT THE FIVE OF US IN THIS PLANE KNOWS THAT I WAS EVER INVOLVED IN THIS HORRIBLE PLOT---

---IF ALL OF US IN THIS PLANE WERE DEAD, THE WORLD WOULD NEVER KNOW!

OOOH!

TARZAN

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

THE RED PLANE'S PILOT WAS KILLED BY THE FIRST MACHINE-GUN BURST. OUT OF CONTROL, THE SHIP CRASHED INTO A ROCKY CANYON.

BRUISED AND DAZED, THE APE-MAN CARRIED THE GIRL FROM THE SHIP'S WRECKAGE A MOMENT BEFORE IT BURST INTO FLAMES.

SEEKING REFUGE, HE TOOK HER TO A NEAR-BY CAVE. "I'M ALL RIGHT NOW," DALLAS MURMERED.

"REST HERE WHILE I SEEK FOOD," TARZAN SAID. "NOTHING WILL HARM YOU!" "DON'T GO!" THE GIRL PLEADED. "I'M FRIGHTENED!"

TARZAN QUIETED THE GIRL'S FEARS AND LEFT HER TO HUNT FOR GAME. AT LAST, ON A LOFTY CRAG, HE SPOTTED AN ANTELOPE.

THROUGH THE DISMAL DEPTHS OF THE CANYON, PAINTED WITH SOMBER SHADOWS, THE JUNGLE MAN RETURNED TO THE CAVE WITH HIS QUARRY.

Robinson

HE STOPPED ABRUPTLY AT THE CAVE'S ENTRANCE. INSIDE DALLAS WAS SURROUNDED BY A PACK OF HIDEOUS, DOG-FACED MANDRILLS.

THE GIRL'S FACE WAS WHITE AND HER LIPS MOVED IN MUTE APPEAL. THE DEVIL-BABOONS, BARKING, TURNED TO CHARGE THE INTRUDER.

THE INSPECTOR HERDS THEM INTO A JET-CAR. FLASH WATCHES FOR A CHANCE TO WHISPER HIS IDENTITY, WITHOUT SULTRA OVERHEARING HIM---
